VOL. IX—NO. 2640. NEW-YORK, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 7, 1860. PRICE TWO CENTS.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Speech of Mr. Brown, of Mississippi, for a Congressional Slave Code.

Rev. Thomas H. Stockton Elected Chaplain of the House.

Another Committee of Investigation Ordered.

A HEATED TERM IN THE HOUSE.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, March 6.

THE TROUBLES ON THE TEXAN FRONTIER.

The speech of Senator WIGFALL, to-day, in favor of the proposition to appropriate $1,100,000 to equip a regiment of Texas Rangers, for the protection of Texas against the Camanches and other Indian tribes, was listened to with profound interest. He gave a graphic description of the outrages constantly committed upon helpless women and children, and appealed to the Senate to forego their dinner until some relief could be afforded a sister State suffering from the tomahawk and scalping-knife.

THE INDIAN BUREAU.

Senator WILSON introduced a resolution of inquiry into the propriety of retransferring the Indian Bureau to the War Department, from which it should never have been taken.

THE HARPER'S FERRY COMMITTEE.

Mr. HYATT appeared at the bar of the Senate to-day, resembling somewhat the ghost in "Hamlet," pale with affright, and supported by the arm of his friends. His immense black beard contrasted strongly with his pallid features. He has till Friday to answer. Secretary FLOYD appeared before the Harper's Ferry Committee, and testified concerning the anonymous letter notifying him of BROWN's invasion. He also produced a number of letters from different Northern States speaking of the extent and strength of the conspiracy.

THE EXTENSION OF THE CAPITOL GROUNDS.

The Joint Committees of the two Houses will meet on Thursday to arrange the extension of the Capitol grounds and the plan for the improvement.

WHO INVENTED NAVY ORDNANCE SHELLS.

Mr. HUBBELL, of Philadelphia, and Capt. DAHLGREN, were before the House Naval Committee to-day, testifying as to the invention of shells suited to navy ordnance. Mr. HUBBELL claims to have invented the shells, now in use by the Government, in 1840, and asks compensation. Capt. DAHLGREN denies this and shows that they were used in Europe forty years ago. The impression is that Mr. HUBBELL failed to make out his case. This Committee will open the so called Report bill, equalizing the pay of the Navy, and the Senate bill regulating the pay of Pursers.

THE MEXICAN TREATY.

The Administration anticipates the rejection of the Mexican treaty, in which event Mr. MCLANE will not return. Mr. BUCHANAN says that the Executive will no longer be responsible for anything which may happen in Mexico, and that every one must take care of himself, as he has no power to offer protection. Then he would favor the supension of the neutrality law as to Mexico, whereby the fillibusters would be enabled to do what the American Senate declines to do by treaty.

In a few days the discussion of the treaty will be opened in the House by Mr. COX, of Ohio, who is thoroughly posted upon Mexican affairs, and who thinks that the treaty is the last hope of salvation to that country.

The treaty will also be discussed in open Senate, as the injunction of secresy is to be removed.

The departure of two steamers from Cuba for the coast of Mexico, bearing the Mexican flag, excites attention here. It is stated that these steamers were fitted out by the Spanish authorities in Cuba, and that they are to coöperate with MIRAMON at Vera Cruz, Tampico or Alvarado, this being the first step towards intervention on the part of Spain, sustained by France. The Mexican news due per steamer Indianola is looked for with much anxiety.

EXECUTIVE MALFEASANCE.

Mr. HOARD's resolution proposing an inquiry into executive malfeasance received an almost unanimous vote. A gentleman on the floor was authorized by Mr. BUCHANAN to say that he asked, and defied the investigation, as every allegation was unfounded.

MISCELLANEOUS MATTERS.

The Committee of Ways and Means called on the Indian Bureau to know if the half million estimated for Indian annuities could not be done without; at this time Commissioner GREENWOOD will answer in the negative.

A new appointee under Col. FORNEY left in the last steamer for Europe, forgetting to leave behind a large amount of cash, borrowed of different friends, with which to speculate in Post-office certificates.

Hon. ALFRED ELY has left for home, to be absent some days.

Both Houses of Congress anticipate a grand frolic to-morrow in a trip to Mount Vernon.

Speaker PENNINGTON's residence is thrown open this evening for the first time, and is filled with members of Congress of all parties.

The President's reception this evening is also a brilliant one. Among those present I notice Mrs. Judge ROOSEVELT, of your City, who is now a guest at the White House.

From the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, March 6.

The President to-day replied to the Senate's resolution calling for information in reference to the present condition of affairs on the Rio Grande. Among the documents is a letter from Gov. HOUSTON, dated Austin, Feb. 15, addressed to the Secretary of War, in which he says that he deplores the situation of Texas with an empty treasury, her unexampled Indian troubles for the last ten years, and the forays of Mexico on her Southern border, and asks in the name of humanity if the Federal arm shall not be speedily raised and extended in behalf of her suffering frontier.

Should this not be done, he says he will in a short time be compelled to resort to the indefeasible right of self-defence, to protect the border, not only to defeat the enemy, but to prevent the recurrence of similar disorders on the frontiers. Texas can and will, if applied to, in thirty days, be able to muster in the field ten thousand men who are anxious, embarrassed as her finances are, to make reclamations upon Mexico for all her wrongs. Can she hope for aid from the Federal Government? She will, in addition to her manifest forbearance, venture yet to defer to the action of the Federal Government.

The Secretary of War, in his letter to the President of March 5, gives a synopsis of all the recent transactions on the Rio Grande. Nothing, he says, can exceed the contrariety of opinion in relation to them among those having the best opportunity to inform themselves. The call of Gov. HOUSTON is the first which has yet been made by the authorities of Texas for any assistance in these disturbances from this Government—no doubt because it was considered by them up to this time as a matter involving local laws and interests rather than such as pertained to the honor and interests of the Confederacy. But upon the call of the Governor of Texas, and upon the undeniable proofs of the gross outrages committed on our soil, the Secretary says he has not hesitated to order a concentration of all the force upon that frontier which the exigencies of the service elsewhere would allow.

Among the documents is a letter to Gov. HOUSTON from ANGEL NAVARRO, one of the Texas Commissioners to Brownsville, dated Feb. 22, in which he says: "Although many turbulent leaders exist among the Mexicans, the Mexican people, as a mass, are hoping for deliverance from anarchy, and would rejoice in the establishment of a State form of government, which would protect their lives and property and give them a place among the intelligent people of the State of Tamaulipas. They regard a protectorate as the only means by which Mexico can be redeemed from the reign of anarchy and party tyrants. That there is a deep seated hostility on the part of many to everything American there can be no doubt; but with the great mass of the Mexicans, they would yield before the course of justice and humanity which has characterized the United States in its annexation and acquisition policy."

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, March 6.

The Vice-President laid before the Senate a certified copy of the Kansas Constitution, received from the President of the Constitutional Convention.

Mr. MASON, of Virginia, (Dem.,) stated that the Sergeant-at-Arms had arrested THADDEUS HYATT, and moved that he be now brought before the bar of the Senate, and asked first what excuse he has to offer for refusing to obey the summons of the Committee of the Senate; and second, whether he is now ready to answer, and that he be required to answer such questions as may be propounded by the Committee, in writing and under oath. Mr. HYATT was brought in.

Mr. HALE, of New-Hampshire, (Rep.,) moved to amend the first interrogatory by substituting the word reason for excuse. Mr. HALL said he believed the Senate had no right to send for this citizen. and believed he had a valid reason for not coming.

Mr. SAULSBURY, of Delaware, (Dem.,) said the questions were in the usual form propounded in the Courts of law.

Mr. HALE said that was the mistake, to act as though this was a Court of plenary powers.

Mr. HALE's amendment was lost, by yeas 12, nays 42.

Mr. HALE moved, in addition, that the Sergeant-at-Arms allow him full opportunity to consult with counsel.

Mr. MASON thought this was unnecessary. The privilege would be allowed him.

Mr. HALE withdrew his amendment.

Mr. MASON's motion was then adopted, by yeas 49, nays 6.

The nays were Messrs. Bingham, Durkee, Hale Sumner, Wade and Wilkinson.

On motion of Mr. MASON, it was ordered that Mr. HYATT be remanded into the custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms, and be given until 2 o'clock Friday next to answer the questions propounded.

Mr. WILSON, of Massachusetts, (Rep.,) introduced a resolution instructing the Committee on the Militia to consider the expediency of transferring the control of the Indians from the Interior to the War Department.

Various reports and bills of no general interest were introduced.

The Military Academy bill was taken up, and, on motion, its reference to the Committee on Military Affairs was reconsidered.

On motion of Mr. BROWN, the unfinished business of yesterday was postponed, and his resolutions relative to the Territories were called up.

After the reading of the resolutions, Mr. BROWN spoke as follows: I hold, first, that a slave is property under the Constitution of the United States. Second, that the owner has the same right to take him into the common Territory of the United States, and there hold him as property, as the owner of any other species of property has to take his property to the Territory. Third, if under the Constitution the owner has a right to take his slave property to the Territory, then he is entitled to protection, or else the right to go there would be null. I insist that the power of the Territorial Legislature should afford him protection, and this failing, I insist it is the duty of Congress to give this protection. But here comes the rub. Is Congress, under any circumstances, bound to afford protection for State property? I insist that, if slaves are property under the Constitution, then they are entitled to the same protection as any other kind of property. The obligations imposed by the Constitution are imposed upon Congress, and Congress transfers these obligations to one of its creatures, but cannot thus transfer or discard the obligations imposed by the Constitution. If he was right therefore, in assuming that slaves are property, then be was right in the assumption that it should be protected. He was told the resolutions could not be passed, and that they could not command public approval—that they will not get the support o Conservative Democrats. There was a day when he had a respect for the word conservative but now a Conservative had gotten to be a sort of political toll-gate keeper, who looks North and South, and cares very little from whence people come, so they paid the toll. He thanked his God he was not such a Conservative, and thanked his Maker that he was endowed with honest convictions and sufficient courage to express them in the face of all opposition. He had heard it suggested that a compromise might be effected. If the South would only vote for protection to Northern industry, then the North would protect the slave property of the South. This was suggested in a letter of Commodore STOCKTON, of New-Jersey, which he sent to the desk to be read. He could not agree to this. Either they had a right to the protection of slave property or else they had not. If they had not the right, the North should give them protection, and make no such demand or qualification. He thought it was not quite modest for Pennsylvania and New Jersey to ask that slave property should be taxed for their benefit. If the property of the North was in danger from mobs and incendiaries, he would willingly give it all the protection the Government could afford. His property was thus in danger. It had been driven out of nearly all the Territories except New-Mexico. But when he came here and claimed protection, he was told he had no right to ask it. He referred to the argument that a remedy could be found in the common law, as advocated by the Senator from Indiana, (Mr. FITCH.) He said he had the greatest respect for his friend from Indiana, and had great respect for him as a physician, but not so much as an expounder of the common law. Doctors were very apt to make mistakes when they undertook to expound the law. He did not think the common law gave him any protection for his slave property in the Territories. For instance: If he had a slave in Kansas, and he should be decoyed away to Illinois, what should he do? He supposed he should be told, if he could find the identical property, he could bring a writ of replevin. But the slave might be decoyed away the next day, and so on. If the slave could not be found, then, perhaps, he might bring an action against the man who had him in his possession, and get a judgment for damages. But what good would it do him if the man was insolvent? No. The common law gave no protection of slave property. Nebraska has lately passed an act absolutely expelling slave property from the Territory, which was only saved from becoming a law by the Governor's strenuous exertion. Kansas has passed such a law over the Governor's veto.

Mr. BROWN then argued the question of suitableness of Slavery to Kansas. He claimed that the climate, soil, and productions of Kansas fitted it for Slavery. One-fifth of the Slave States were in the same latitude. He said his friend from Indiana would allow him protection if he could get a verdict from the Court in an action at common law. Why even the Senator from New-York (Mr. SEWARD) would hardly refuse that? This Government has not only denied Slavery protection in the Territories, but everywhere else. This, the greatest moneyed interest of the country had never received any protection whatever. Thousands of slaves were carried to Canada by the Underground Railroad. Suppose they should take sheep and horses from the Free States, the Government would be appealed to to cease receiving the stolen goods of the United States. But the property of the South was thus stolen to the amount of millions. Yet no notice was taken of it. If he had his way, the sun should not go down before he would file a notice with the British Minister, that unless Canada yielded up the stolen negroes, just as she would be compelled to yield up the stolen horses and sheep, that this Government would use all legal means to force her to do so, and if that remedy was not sufficient then this Government would declare war. But his complaint was unheeded, while the other would be listened to. He was told he was violating the party doctrine of non-intervention. That doctrine was agreed to as applying to a particular case, and he himself had never agreed to this doctrine.

Mr. BROWN then read extracts from former speeches to show that he had always held the same opinion on this question. The Senator from Illinois, (Mr. DOUGLAS,) had brought in a new version on this doctrine. Mr. DOUGLAS had asserted that at the time of the passage of the Kansas-Nebraska bill, the Democracy were unanimous in their indorsement of the doctrine.

Mr. BROWN then read from a speech of his own made at that time to show he dissented from the doctrine. He never had yielded the point that Congress was bound to protect slave property everywhere. He took issue with the idea promulgated by the Senator from New-York (Mr. SEWARD) that Slavery was a curse to both white and black race. He reasserted that Slavery was a great social, moral, and political blessing to both slave and master. Nowhere could 4,000,000 of black be found who were so prosperous and happy as the slaves at the South. He read the following statistics to show that the negro increased more rapidly in a state of Slavery than in a free condition: From 1810 to 1820, the increase of the slaves was 29 per cent.; from 1820 to 1820, the increase of the slaves was 30 per cent., and that of the free negroes was 34 per cent.; from 1830 to 1840, the increase of slaves was 23 per cent., and that of free blacks 20 per cent.; from 1840 to 1850, while Abolition has been most prevalent and the underground railroad most active and energetic, the increase of free blacks was only 12 per cent.

Then Mr. BROWN read statistics in regard to the increase of free negroes in the Slave States and the Free States. From 1810 to 1820, the increase in the Slave States was 24 per cent., and in the Free States 31 per cent. From 1820 to 1830, the increase in the Slave States was 34 per cent., and in the Free States 34 per cent. From 1830 to 1840, the increase in the Slave States was 18 per cent., and in the Free States 24 per cent. From 1840 to 1850, the increase in the Slave States was 10 per cent., and in the Free States 14 per cent. From these statistics he deduced this conclusion—that the negro in a state of Slavery multiplies his species more rapidly than in a state of freedom: hence Slavery was the normal condition of the negro, for in every aspect he was more prosperous than in a condition of freedom. He referred to the fact that the Senator from Illinois, (Mr. TRUMBULL,) who argued that by the Constitution the black man had certain inalienable rights, admitted that for the good of society criminals might be deprived of their rights He was glad to hear this admission; for on the same ground he argued, when it was for the welfare of society and for the benefit of the white and black men, then it was proper to take away from the negro certain so-called rights. The Senator from Delaware (Mr. SAULSBURY) had called these resolutions abstractions. They could not be, for they recommended immediate legislation.

Mr. SAULSBURY explained. He did not think there was any demand for the resolutions at this time by the action of any unorganized Territory.

Mr. BROWN rejoined, and proceeded. Kansas had violated the Constitution in her unfriendly legislation, and now she had passed a Personal Liberty bill more odious than that of Massachusetts. He had seen in the papers a set of resolutions, said to be adopted in a Democratic caucus, and supposed they were. He did not object to any of these, except the fourth and fifth. He thought Congress ought not to wait for any further experience in regard to necessary legislation. When the resolutions came up he should move to amend them in this respect.

Mr. FITCH, of Indiana, (Dem.,) replied. He though the common law quite sufficient for the protection of Slavery. It grew up under that protection and existed under it for many years. Whenever it was found inadequate he would vote for additional legislation.

The subject was then postponed.

Mr. FITCH called attention to a communication from the Regents of the Mount Vernon Fund, inviting the members of both Houses of Congress to visit Mount Vernon to-morrow. He moved that the Senate meet to-morrow at 12 o'clock, so as to adjourn early. Agreed to.

Mr. GWIN, of California, (Dem.,) moved to take up the Military Academy bill, so as to decide upon the amendment appropriation of $1,300,000 to equip a regiment of mounted Texas volunteers.

Mr. WIGFALL, of Texas, (Dem.,) urged the necessity of immediate action. He drew a pitiful picture of the condition of affairs upon the Rio Grande from the incursions of the Indians and Mexicans, saying that women had been ravished, children scalped, and houses burnt.

Mr. FESSENDEN, of Maine, (Rep.,) was opposed to immediate action, on the ground that they had not yet heard from the President or Secretary of War.

Mr. WIGFALL said that the information he had of affairs on the Rio Grade was undoubted.

Mr. TOOMBS, of Georgia, (Dem.,) thought that the Governor of Texas and President of the United States had already ample power to protect the frontier. This appropriation could accomplish no good purpose.

After further discussion, a message from the President was read, inclosing Gen. HOUSTON's letter, and a long communication from the Secretary of War accompanying official reports of the difficulties on the Rio Grande.

The question was then taken on the motion to take up the bill, and it was carried by yeas 27, nays 17.

Mr. DOOLITTLE moved to adjourn. Agreed to.

Adjourned.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday, March 6.

Mr. SWARTZ, of Pennsylvania, (Anti-Lecompton Dem.,) asked, but failed to obtain, leave to introduce a resolution instructing the Committee on Mileage to inquire into the expediency of restoring the compensation of Congressmen to what it was formerly, and into the expediency of regulating and reducing mileage.

The House resumed the consideration of the bill reported last week, and of which a synopsis was then given, for the protection of female passengers on board emigrant ships.

Mr. JOHN COCHRANE, of New-York, (Dem.,) offered two amendments, which were agreed to, providing that a process be issued against offenders in the English, French, or German language, and that suit can be brought within one year from the time of arrival of the vessel in port.

The bill was passed.

Mr. JOHN COCHRANE, from the Committee on Commerce, reported a bill for the simplification and codification of the revenue laws. He said plain and radical changes had been made from the bill for a similar purpose reported at the last Congress. All innovations were abandoned. It was deemed best to confine the provisions of the bill to the existing laws on the subject, with such amendments only as are necessary to enforce them, and which are in accordance with the regulations of the Treasury Department for the last five years, but without the sanction of law. This bill simply collates the laws now spread over a large number of volumes. It was of the utmost importance that the bill should be considered. The interests of commerce were dependent on it, because there is an imperfect code operating over the land.

The consideration of the bill was postponed until the first Tuesday in April.

Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, (Rep.,) from the Committee on Commerce, reported a joint resolution directing the unexpended balance of the appropriation of March, 1859, for repairing the works and piers in order to secure a light-house at Chicago, to be diverted to the repair and improvement of the harbor of that city. He said the original appropriation was $87,000, of which sufficient had been expended for the light-house, leaving $64,000 for the harbor.

The resolution was passed.

Mr. FLORENCE, of Pennsylvania, (Dem.,) presented a memorial of the insurance companies, merchants and other citizens of Philadelphia, praying that Congress substitute steamers of light draft for the revenue service in place of the present sailing schooners.

Referred to the Committee on Commerce.

The House prepared for the election of a Chaplain. There were upwards of twenty persons nominated, including, by Mr. BRIGGS, of New-York, (American,) the Jewish Rabbi, Dr. RAPHLAL. In addition, Mr. BRANCH, of North Carolina, (Dem.,) nominated the whole clergy of the District of Columbia.

Mr. POTTER, of Wisconsin, (Rep.,) nominated Rev. Mr. FEE, recently expelled from Kentucky.

Mr. GILMORE, of Indiana, (Rep.,) moved to postpone the election until the first of July.

Negatived by 31 majority.

After the roll was called many changed their votes.

Mr. BRIGGS withdrew the name of Dr. RAPHALL.

Mr. BRANCH thought that all would agree that the scene should continue as short a time as possible. They now had an opportunity of knowing who was the strongest candidate. He suggested that he should offer a resolution declaring a particular gentleman Chaplain. Let the other side offer an amendment, proposing another candidate. Then the previous question could be called, and the contest settled by two votes.

Objections were made.

Whole number of votes	190
Necessary to a choice	96
Mr. Ball, Methodist	41
Mr. Proctor, Southern Methodist	41
Thomas H. Stockton	31
Mr. Madal	14

The remainder were scattering.

The House again voted and Mr. STOCKTON, of Philadelphia, was elected by 16 majority.

Mr. STALLWORTH, of Alabama, (Dem.,) presented a memorial from Mobile, similar to the above-mentioned one by Mr. FLORENCE.

An invitation was received from the ladies of the Mount Vernon Association, inviting the members to accompany them to a visit to Mount Vernon to-morrow.

Laid on the table.

On motion of Mr. SHERMAN, of Ohio, (Rep.,) the bill to reduce mileage from forty to twenty cents per mile, to be computed by straight geographical line, was taken up.

Mr. WASHBURN, of Illinois, (Rep.,) ineffectually requested Mr. SHERMAN to permit him to move an amendment, repealing all laws allowing any mileage at all.

The bill passed, 154 against 21.

The invitation of the ladies of the Mount Vernon Association was accepted for to-morrow afternoon.

Mr. HOARD, of New-York, (Rep.,) offered the following:

Whereas, A Representative from the State of Pennsylvania, Mr. HICKMAN, did, on the 12th day of December last, on the floor of this House, make the following statement: "As Mr. BUCHANAN could not purchase me, so I cannot be purchased by others. I have already been offered more than I am worth, and refused to sell myself at that;" and on the same day Mr. HASKIN, a Representative from the State of New-York, and on the floor of this House, made the following statement, in answer to a charge of being one of a mercenary band: "Let me say that no one knows better than Mr. BUCHANAN himself the utter falsehood of this charge; for he endeavored, by threats and seductions of his patronage, without effect, to draw true men away from the path of duty;" and on the 14th day of December, Mr. ADRAIN, a Representatives from New-Jersey, on the floor of this House, made the following statement: "During the Lecompton controversy I was approached in such a manner as to show corruption on the part of the Administration." And

Whereas, Such statements imply an interference by the Executive Department of the Government with the action and rights of this House, incompatible with the dignity and purity of its legislation, in derogation of the privileges of this body, and destructive of the public confidence in our legislation and Government; therefore

Resolved, That a Committee of five be appointed by the Speaker to inquire and investigate whether any improper attempts have been or are being made by any person connected with the present Executive Department of the Government, or by any person acting with their advice or consent, to influence the action of this House or any of its members upon any question or measure upon which it has acted, or which it has or may have had under consideration, directly or indirectly, by any promise or offer, or intimation of employment, patronage, office favors, or reward, under the Government, or under any Department, officer or servant thereof, to be conferred or withheld, in consideration of any vote given, withheld, or to be withheld, with power to send for persons and papers, examine witnesses, and leave to report at any time by bill or otherwise.

The reading of the resolution caused great sensation on the Democratic side. A dozen members were on their feet at once, shouting Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tem., (Mr. WASHBURN, of Maine, in the Chair)—The Chair thinks the resolution is in order, as a question of privilege.

Mr. HOARD—I move the previous question.

Mr. BRANCH—I hope there will be no objection. The gentleman has given responsible names, and I hope the resolution will be received without objection on this side.

Mr. BURNETT, of Kentucky, (Dem.,) I desire to ask whether we are to have two Special Committees to investigate the same subject. [Order, order.]

Mr. CLEMENS, of Virginia, (Dem.)—I rise to a question of order. It is not competent for the gentleman from New-York to move to raise a Special Committee in regard to matters which were referred to a Committee yesterday. You are only complicating questions which the House has given a Committee authority to investigate. The only effect will be to increase expense of a Committee already ordered by the gentleman's own party, at the head of which will be the gentleman from Pennsylvania, (Mr. COVODE.) I submit to him as a matter of economy that the resolutions are mere specifications of what the House has already ordered a Committee upon, and there must be an end to these things.

THE SPEAKER—It is not a question of order. It is a question addressed to the discretion of the House.

Mr. CLEMENS—I move that the resolution be carried to that Committee.

The Speaker—The gentleman from New-York is entitled to the floor, and demands the previous question.

"Question, question," on Republican side.

Question—Is the resolution before the House?

Speaker—It is, and the previous question is demanded.

Mr. HOUSTON, of Alabama, (Dem.,)—I am not going to object to that resolution, but it seems to me that the resolution might go to the Committee raised yesterday, if the gentleman from New-York will consent. I then shall have no objection, as the ground was covered by the resolution offered yesterday by the gentleman from Pennsylvania.

Mr. COVODE—I will state that if it should appear that the ground is covered by that resolution, where can the two come in conflict? I will give way and will not have testimony taken. I will yield to this case.

Mr. FLORENCE—This is the third committee of investigation ordered by this House. The Chairman of the Committee of Public Expenditures, Mr. HASKINS, had the same thing referred to him, and my colleague, Mr. COVODE, yesterday cut a wide swath, and went, I believe, from the banks of the Delaware to the Pacific shores. It strikes me my colleague has enough already on his back. If he gets through all that by next June, it will be as much as he can carry to his people. I am not opposed to the resolution, but let us have one committee and a thorough investigation.

Mr. BRANCH—I repeat that I earnestly hope no gentleman on our side will object to this resolution. Here are charges made upon the responsibility of members upon this floor, who have risen in their places and made charges of corruption against the Administration. The gentleman from New-York asks for an investigation, and he ought to have it, and it ought not to be confined to a Committee charged with investigation of frauds.

Messrs. MILLSON and HOUSTON, and half a dozen others addressed the chair amidst shouts of "Order."

Mr. MCRAE, of Mississippi, (Dem.,)—I insist on the Chair bringing the House to order.

Mr. BRANCH proceeded—Grave questions like those ought not to be consigned to a Committee raised for the purpose of investigating misconduct in the Custom-houses, or charges against a Public Printer. I hope the resolution will be passed unanimously, and a Committee raised, and these charges investigated fully, in order that, if true, the President and his advisers may be held responsible; and, if false, that those who have perpetrated the calumny may be held responsible before the country. [Slight applause on the Democratic side.]

Mr. HOUSTON—I desire to—[Cries of "Order," and "Previous Question."] The gentleman from North Carolina has made a very warm speech appealing to his side of the House to make no objection, as if objection had been made. That speech was wholly unnecessary. I don't understand any member on this side of the House has ever intimated a desire to make objection to the introduction of that resolution, and I don't like the speech of the gentleman from North Carolina to go to the country, from which an inference may be drawn that I or any individual on this side desired to object to that resolution. I did desire, and I yet desire that it should go to the Committee raised on yesterday. That is the proper place for it but I didn't intend to object to the resolution, even if the gentleman from New-York had objected to that course. I insisted, and I appealed to him, that he should allow it to be introduced and go to that Committee, but I did not intend to object, nor have I understood that any one else intended to object to the resolution. If the gentleman from New-York desires to press them, and refuses to let them go to the Special Committee already raised, then I suppose we can't help ourselves unless there is a majority that wishes to send them there. There is no disposition, and has not been, to smother any investigation into the action of this administration. Look at the resolution adopted yesterday, by the votes of a large part of the members of this side of the House. There you have directed a Committee to go into Pennsylvania, and into every other State in this Union, and seek to learn who has expended money in elections. You can go to the Congressional District of any solitary member—send for witnesses, bring them from his District, and make him swear whether that Representative or his friends have spent a dollar on his election. Now, Sir, what sort of principle of inquiry is that when you send out a Committee to send all over the States of this Union, into every district, and inquire into whether any officer of the Government has been tampering there; whether the President of the United States has been attempting to use money; whether any officer responsible to us—yes, Sir,—or whether any one has done so. I don't care who he is, private individual though he may be, your Committee is bound to report his name to the House of Representatives.

Mr. HOUSTON was here momentarily interrupted by a louder outburst than usual of the cries for order, which had never altogether ceased.

Mr. HOOD took advantage of the pause again to demand the previous question.

Mr. HOUSTON, resuming at the top of his lungs—Mr. Speaker, I would like to know if this Committee are going, in the discharge of their duties, [laughter] to examine into the election of the State Treasurer in the State of Maine, where he has himself made a statement that he has expended thousands of dollars for his election, for which he has had to be a defaulter. I want to know if the Committee will discharge its whole duty and inquire into the elections in Maine.

A VOICE—Louder. [Laughter.]

Mr. HOUSTON—If it will do its duty, it must go up to Maine and inquire into that defalcation; and not only that, but it must inquire what has been done in your elections in this House of Representatives. Why did gentlemen vote for nominations which they would not touch before their constituents? What spoils were divided, or offered to be divided out in connection with your House organinization, Sir? Your Speaker, Sir? Your Postmaster, Sir? Your Doorkeeper, Sir? Your Clerk, Sir? [Loud laughter.] I don't know that you made any arrangements for a parson to pray for you, because, though you wanted a good deal of praying done for you, I think you acted with some seeming fairness about that. [Laugnter.]

Mr. DUNN, of Indiana, (Rep.,) said if the gentleman wanted to make a specific charge against the Speaker, he would vote for an investigation.

Mr. HOUSTON had said no such thing. He wanted the Committee to investigate these things.

Mr. DUNN—I should like to know what the gentleman intended by referring to the Speaker in connection with fraudulent contracts, unless he meant to charge him with corruption.

Mr. HOUSTON said every man but the gentleman from Indiana understood him as referring to the entire House organization. He wanted it investigated, that men might see how and why these strange results were produced.

Mr. COVODE—The gentleman from Alabama has charged upon me that my Committee takes a range into Congressional districts. I will state for his information that within the last half hour a distinguished Democrat from the city of Pittsburg called me to the door and asked me to subpœna him in regard to expenditures of money there.

["Name him! name, name!" from the Democratic benches.]

Mr. HOUSTON would be obliged if Mr. COVODE would let them know what distinguished Democrat had made this request. [Repeated cries of "Name him!"] The gentleman from Pennsylvania had indicated his readiness to answer a question, but his refusal to give the name was sneaking from a voluntarily assumed responsibility.

Mr. FRENCH, of Maine, (Rep.,) asked Mr. HOUSTON on what authority he asserted that the late Treasurer of Maine had expended large sums of money for electioneering purposes.

Mr. HOUSTON replied, that his authority was what he had seen, and what he presumed the gentleman had seen in the newspapers of Maine.

Mr. FRENCH desired to inform the gentleman that the whole of that story is an entire fabrication, made by the editor of the Bangor Union, without the slightest foundation whatever, and who has acknowledged before an investigating Committee that it is false.

Mr. HOUSTON—Will the gentleman tell me whether that officer is a defaulter?

Mr. FRENCH—That was not the question to which I rose.

Mr. HOUSTON—The gentleman admits the defalcation. I want to call the attention of the Committee to a Republican Treasurer purloining money, and see what became of it.

Mr. FRENCH—The charge of defalcation, and the manner in which it was produced, is about being examined by a Committee.

Mr. HOUSTON—I hope our distinguished Committee will render them assistance. Was there corruption in the Pennsylvania elections?

Mr. COVODE—The President makes that charge. [Laughter.]

Mr. HOUSTON—That is a mere evasion.

Mr. COVODE—If the gentleman will furnish me with direct charges I will investigate them.

Mr. HOUSTON—What direct charges were embraced in your resolution yesterday? Are they not the merest skeletons, intimations and insinuations ever produced?

Mr. COVODE—If the gentleman will insinuate anything as plainly, we will investigate it.

Mr. HOUSTON—There are intimations everywhere against the Republican Party. I desire an investigation into them to be made. I want it. All I ask is that the truth shall be elicited. In conclusion, Mr. HOUSTON moved that the resolution be referred to the Committee created yesterday.

THE SPEAKER—I will remind the gentleman that he has not the floor to make the motion.

Mr. HOUSTON—Very well. The gentleman shall have his Committee of Investigation then. All I ask is that it shall proceed to get at the truth.

Mr. HASKIN, of New-York, (Anti-Lecompton Dem.,) said: It will be remembered by the House that a few days ago I proposed a resolution to disband a Special Committee appointed on a motion made by Mr. GROW, and to refer the subject matter involved—namely, printing—to the regular Standing Committee, of which I have the honor to be Chairman. I did this because I was anxious that there should be system on the subject of investigation. The primary object of Mr. COVODE in offering his resolution yesterday was to inquire into the appliances by Mr. BUCHANAN and his Cabinet to carry through the last session of Congress the Lecompton Constitution. Having myself voted to disband the Special Committee raised at the instance of Mr. GROW, and although anxious that the charges contained in Mr. HOARD's resolution should be examined into, I cannot vote to send the subject to a new Select Committee. This creating of special committees was likely to be reduced to a perfect farce. As Chairman of the Committee on Public Expenditures, I shall insist on economy. I ask Mr. HOARD to consent that his resolution shall be referred to the Special Committee ordered yesterday. If Mr. COVODE and his friends intend parceling out twenty different subjects to as many committees, then retrenchment and reform is not advocated by the Republican side. I intend not only to act with them in exposing corruptions where they exist, but to keep down the enormous expenditures of the Government. They must look out, or they would get the laugh on them for raising unnecessary Committees.

Mr. HINDMAN, of Arkansas. (Dem.,)—I ask the gentleman from New-York to withdraw the demand for the previous question, to enable me to offer an amendment which I will ask to read for information.

Mr. HOARD—I decline to yield.

Mr. HINDMAN—Read it for information.

Mr. HOARD—I do not yield. I insist on the previous question.

Mr. HINDMAN—I will read it myself—I still have the floor.

Loud shouts of order on the Republican side.

Mr. HINDMAN persisted in reading his amendment amid the most deafening shouts of "Order" and resounding of the Speaker's gavel. Not a word of the amendment was heard in the Reporter's Gallery above the uproar.

Mr. KELLOCK, of Illinois, (Rep.,) raising his voice to the highest pitch, asked whether his Republican frinds were unwilling to have it read?

During more than usual confusion, the demand for the previous question was seconded, under the operation of which Mr. HOARD's resolution was adopted.

The amendment which Mr. HINDMAN desired to offer is as follows:

Resolved, Further, that said Committee inquire whether any money was used corruptly to procure the election of any member of this House, and also whether any corrupt means were used or proposed to be used in the election of a Printer of this House and that said Committee inquire generally into any and all the charges that have been or may be preferred against any member or members of this House, or officer of the Federal Government, and report by bill or otherwise

Mr. LOVEJOY, of Illinois, (Rep.,) rising, asked whether it was in order, by the rules of the House, for any member to read a paper in spite of the decision of the Chair, and in defiance of the apparent order of the House, and whether Mr. HINDMAN's amendment would be published in the Globe?

The Speaker replied that he had no control over the Globe. Adjourned.

FROM ALBANY.

DEBATE ON THE USURY LAWS.

A Good Practical Working Day in the Legislature.

ALBANY, Tuesday, March 6.

The Committee on Cities and Villages hold a meeting in the Assembly Chamber to-morrow, to hear parties on the sanitary code for New-York and Brooklyn. Dr. BELLOWS addresses the Committee.

SENATE.

ALBANY, Tuesday, March 6.

Mr. MANIERRE presented petitions for and remonstrances against city railroads. Also, to limit the fare on all city railroads to three cents.

Mr. GARDNER moved to recommit the Brooklyn water act. Carried.

The bill relative to leasing public exhibitions in New-York, and to prohibit the same on the Sabbath, was advanced to a third reading.

Mr. MANIERRE introduced a bill to incorporate the American Zoological and Botanical Society.

The Governor's Message was taken up in Committee of the Whole.

Mr. P. P. MURPHY made an elaborate speech in favor of the political positions of the message.

In the Senate, bills on General Orders were considered.

Mr. MCLEOD MURPHY's bill to expedite the payment of claims of servants and laborers against estates of deceased persons, was ordered to a third reading.

Also bills relative to the payment of certain assessments in Brooklyn, and relative to the Kings County Superintendents of the Poor.

Mr. FERRO introduced a bill incorporating William H. Hays, Edward B. St. John, James S. Hunt, Minthorn Tompkins, Jr., and thirty-two others, to lay a railroad, commencing at Fifty-ninth-street, at the intersection with the Seventh-avenue, through Seventh-avenue, Greenwich-avenue, Eighth-street, Macdougal-street, Fourth-street, Thompson-street, Canal-street, West Broadway, College-place, Barclay-street to Broadway, and also from corner of Barclay and Church streets, along Church, Canal, Green, Eighth-street or Clinton-place, University-place and Union-place to Broadway, along Broadway to Seventh-avenue, to intersect with the track. Also from corner of Clinton-place, or Eighth-street and University-place, along University-place, Wooster-street, Canal-street to West Broadway and Greene-street. Branches of the road run all over the City and to the ferries, the route occupying several foolscap sheets of paper.

Mr. MANIERRE introduced a bill providing that any person desiring to construct a railroad may give notice to the Comptroller of the City of his desire to use any of the streets, and at the same time file a bond in the penal sum of $100,000, conditioned that if he secures the grant, he will faithfully comply with the terms of the act, and the rules and regulations of the Common Council touching the management and operation of the road, and shall pay to the City a yearly rent, for which the said franchise shall be leased. The Comproller shall advertise such application for thirty days, and give notice of the terms on which the franchise will be leased to the highest bidder. The lowest sum at which the same shall be leased shall be fixed by the Mayor, Comptroller and Street Commissioner, or a majority of them. No lease shall authorize for laying more than a single track on any street not over sixty feet wide. The rate of fare shall in no case exceed five cents, under the permission of the Common Council. Act not to affect any existing charter.

These are the bills alluded to in yesterday's report, and proceed from opponents of the bills reported in the Assembly.

ASSEMBLY.

ALBANY, Tuesday, March 6.

The Usury Law was taken up in Committee of the Whole, and a long debate had on its merits. Messrs. MILLIKEN, LAW, ROBINSON, DWIGHT and POND advocated a reform of the present Usury laws. Messrs. WILEY, HOLCOMB, BARNET, O. ALLEN, MAXON and STILSON opposed it. The motion to strike out the enacting clause was lost.

Mr. STILSON moved to strike out 7 per cent. as the legal rate of interest, and insert instead thereof six per cent. Adopted—50 against 33.

Mr. CROCKER moved to amend the bill by allowing the recovery of the legal rate of interest as well as the principal, when usury was proved. Lost.

The bill was then amended so as to take effect from June 1, 1860, and was ordered to a third reading.

The House laid on the table the report of the Committee of the Whole, ordering the usury amendment to a third reading.

The evening session was occupied in the consideration of bills in Committee of the Whole.

The following were completed and ordered to a third reading:

To amend the act to incorporate companies formed to navigate the lakes and rivers.

To provide for the appointment of deputy inspectors of gas meters, to reside in different parts of the State.

The Canal Appropriation bill.

To amend the general Railroad act. It prohibits directors from holding proxies, and makes more strict regulations in regard to insolvent roads, transfer of stock, &c.

To amend the Brooklyn Charter.

The bill to provide for funding and paying the floating debt of New-York was debated, but no progress was made.

The privileges of the floor were extended to Hon. AUGUSTUS FRANK, member of Congress from Wyoming, during his stay in the city. Adjourned.

BUSINESS IN THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY—A NEW EXCISE LAW—A BOTANICAL GARDEN—VOTING BY PROXY IN CHARITABLE AND RELIGIOUS INSTITUTIONS—SPECIAL ORDERS—THE TOLL BILL—PRO RATA.

ALBANY, Tuesday, March 6, 1860.

The Senate had no quorum yesterday forenoon so the few that were on hand took a recess until evening.

In the evening there were enough Senators, but very little business, except a protracted discussion of the bill to permit members of charitable and religious institutions to vote by proxy. As I have before said, this is the inevitable African in another shape. The friends of the bill don't like the way in which the affairs of the Bible-House and Tract Society are managed, and they believe that by getting proxies they can accomplish what they cannot now—i. e., change the Board of Managers, or make the Board change its management. For two or three years this effort has been made, and it has always been declared a party measure—a Republican Party measure—but somehow or other it never gets through. Last night Senator HAMMOND championed the bill, and Senator SPINOLA championed the charitable and religious institutions. Funny, wasn't it? The conservative turned radical and the radical turned conservative. After an exchange of shots between these two batteries, firing from reversed positions, the bill was ordered engrossed for a third reading, by a vote of Ayes 13, Nays 5—Messrs. ROTCH and ROBERTSON, Republicans, being among the five negatives.

Senator HAMMOND introduced, last evening, a bill to facilitate the punishment of persons guilty of violating the Excise law. It is Senator HAMMOND's bill only by adoption, as is evident by the fact that it comes to the clerk's desk in a strange "hand-write," as POWERS used to say, and still retains the private note which commended the bill to Senator HAMMOND for paternity. The Senator has evidently been studying to find out what it is, but has finally given it up in despair, and sent the original manuscript to the Committee on rum and wine, for them to decipher, if they can. It is not the first time—is it, Senator H.?—that an article has been put in circulation unread, merely upon the reputation of a name. As I have had some experience of the chirography of the author, I have been able to decipher what are the provisions of the bill.

1. All licenses shall be granted during the months of March and April only, and shall take effect the first of May, running for one year, and no longer. Any license granted, except in the months named, to be invalid.

2. Every license shall specify the precise place at which liquors shall be sold, and shall be of no force or effect elsewhere.

3. The license shall be posted in plain sight in the place where the liquor is to be sold and drank. All sales in any other room or rooms shall be a violation of the license.

4. Any alteration or erasure in the license shall subject the holder of the license to punishment for forgery in the second degree.

5. Any tax payer may sue for the recovery of any penalty imposed by the statute for violations of the Excise Law, in any Court of the State, or before any Justice of the Peace. One-half of the amount recovered is to go to the County Treasury, the other half to the individual who has the spunk to put the offender through.

Senator MANIERRE introduced a bill this morning to incorporate the American Zoölogical and Botanical Garden Association. HAMILTON FISH, A. W. BRADFORD, T. BAILY MYERS, GEORGE OPDYKE, JOHN JAY, SHEPHARD KNAPP, and a score more of that kind of influential citizens, are named as the corporators. The Central Park Commissioners are required to set apart for the uses of the Association a space of ground not exceeding 60 acres, in such portion of the Park as shall be deemed the most suitable. The ground and building of the Association are to be open to public view every day, except Sunday. Nothing is said about fencing off the grounds. And, by the way, why should the public be excluded from their use and occupancy on Sunday? For what is the Park to be made beautiful and instructive, but for the very class who will be debarred from catching a glimpse of nature, except the blue sky, unless it be on Sunday? Is it any desecration of the day to walk the paths of the Central Park, and look at the endless variety of shrub, and tree, and vine, that will be found there? If it be, then it must be a sin which only the poor can commit, for I venture to say there is not one of the gentlemen whose names are incorporated in the bill, that does not every Sunday seek the enjoyment and relaxation of a stroll over his own lawn and garden. That he owns the lawn and garden, and shaded walk, and nice covered arbor, does not lessen the sin, does it? Why, then, do they deny to the countless thousands of New-York pleasures which they themselves enjoy? Was it not one of the arguments which made the project of the Central Park popular—that it would save men and boys, women and children, from the haunts of dissipation and vice in which they now too generally pass away the Sabbath? I think I heard one of the best men of New-York, before a Legislative Committee, urge that reason with an irresistible force, and that I never listened to a more exquisite word-picture than that of the Sunday scenes which he painted, and which he hoped to see in living reality before he died. He preaches twice each Sabbath day in the pulpit of a New-York Church, and he expressed the belief that not all the pulpit preaching of New-York could do so much to make her poor see, and feel, and know God, as the silent but truthful ministers they would meet in the proposed Park.

Speaking of the Park—you need have no fear that the work there is to be abandoned, or even retarded by the action of the Legislature. There is no disposition here manifested to harm one hair of its head—only a slight suspicion that the color of the hair is a trifle too golden. If the Commissioners show that what they have done they have done wisely and well, they will get all they now ask, and more, too, if it is proved to be requisite. Legislators, like Connecticut Yankees, will ask questions.

The Assembly was on the general orders to-day—a four hours' session as dull and monotonous as the first sermon I ever recollect hearing.

Last evening a bill was introduced in the House to annul the Law of Libel. It will hardly pass, introduced at this late period of the session; but if it should, it would be a step in advance. It presumes no more malice in a publication than is absolutely necessary to sustain an action, and that the jury, in determining damages, may act on their own judgment, without the production of specific proof.

The business of legislation begins to take on something of the whirl and confusion incident to a rush for precedence. This is evidenced in the desire to make special orders. There were several such attempts last night. Only two succeeded in the Assembly, and one in the Senate. These were:

In the Senate, the Judiciary Amendments to the Constitution, which were set down for Friday.

In the House, the Susquehanna Railroad for next Friday, and the Personal Liberty bills for Wednesday week.

These are three forlorn hopes, and it is probably because of that they were favored with special hearings.

However, the initiatory step for a Grinding Committee has been taken in the House, and that patent system of legislation made easy, will probably put through all the little jokers that would otherwise be lost "for want of time."

The Toll bill is the special order in the House to-morrow. It will be made general, and, as a party measure, will pass. The alternative is between that and a four mill tax, and if justice be blind, policy will point which should kick the beam. Think of the majority going into the next canvass with a four mill tax on their back. They would break down with that load before the primary meetings were held. It would be suicide—and suicide, you know, is punishable under the statute.

The Select Committee of the Senate, to whom the Pro Rata bill was referred, hold a session—their first —this afternoon. "It's of no consequence," however, for I don't think the bill has the ghost of a chance in the Senate, if the Committee should report it. Some of its friends are quite willing to go down to the people on that issue another season.

The Canal appointments are to be made on Thursday. The fishes are very small and the loaves light weight, but there's a big crowd and they seem ravenous like wolves.

The weather is mild—there is no snow, no ice, and the air is of the earth. There's a chipper of birds, like as if it were Spring, in the branching elms of the Capitol Park, and a dull, hazy, dreamy atmosphere, that makes the men of the plow, cooped up here, think of plowing and planting. Poor fellows, they little dream that they are being plowed with, and they would have the horrors if they knew what an amount of foul seed they are planting.

Navigation by the river has been resumed. The propeller Western World leaves for New-York this evening. An he could, so would LEO.

Mr. Seward's Speech.

HIS OPINIONS ON CHANGING THE CONSTITUTION.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

I have read with much interest the recent speech of Mr. SEWARD in the U. S. Senate as published in the TIMES. It is very able, and does great credit to the speaker. Its mild, yet firm and conciliatory tone is calculated to be felt throughout the Union. His denunciation of JOHN BROWN'S invasion of Virginia covers the whole ground, and throws back on his assailants with withering effect the charge of any complicity on the part of the Republican party.

There is another charge brought against Mr. SEWARD which I have never believed, and which, if untrue, should be refuted. Such refutation is due alike to Mr. SEWARD and to the American people. It is contained in the August number of De Bow's Review. The article was written by A. F. HOPKINS of Alabama, and whom the Editor introduces as "one of the ablest jurists of the South." Mr. HOPKINS says:

"While the Constitution, as formed originally, had no validity in any State without a separate ratification by the people of the State, amendments may become parts of the Constitution if proposed according to the mode prescribed by the 5th article thereof, and ratified afterwards as the same article requires, by the Legislatures or Conventions of three-fourths of the several States. Obedience to the article would accomplish the object for which it was made, and prevent sectional amendments. Convinced of the sufficiency of this article as a barrier against such amendments, the notorious New-York Senator (Mr. SEWARD) has conceived a project for its overthrow, and published it for the edification of his followers. His edict is a command to them to disregard the constitutional mode of making amendments, as soon as his party, the Black Republicans, shall have a President and majority in both houses of Congress of their own political faith, and adopt such amendments as they desire by conventions in a majority of the States. No one can doubt the object of the amendments to be made thus. The removal from office of the Judges of the Supreme Court of the United States would be the immediate consequence of the success of this daring scheme for the establishment of the higher law of its principal professor, the source of which is in his own selfish pride and ambition, and proclaimed and supported by him for his own aggrandizement."

Such is the charge against Mr. SEWARD. I have never believed it, because I cannot conceive how any statesman can for one moment suppose that the Constitution can be amended in any other mode than that pointed out in the instrument itself. If such an attempt should be made and carried out, it would be as gross a violation of the Constitution as an attempt to carry out the insane declaration so often heard of late, that a Republican President, if elected according to the terms of the Constitution, should not be permitted to administer the Government.

Now, Mr. Editor, I wish you to publish this brief communication, and give the answer to this charge if in your power—if not, it may meet the eye of Mr. SEWARD, and he or some friend may give the refutation or an explanation of it. It has already been the subject of much conversation, and it is due to Mr. SEWARD, as well as the public, that it remain no longer in doubt. CIVIS.

OUR TRADE WITH CHINA.

Letter from the United States Consul at Amoy.

The following extract of a letter from Mr. F. H. HYATT, United States Consul at Amoy, is part of the Report of the Secretary of State on Foreign Commerce for 1859:

"A review of the trade and commerce of Amoy with the United States, and by the agency of American shipping, during the commercial and statistical year ending with September, 1859, shows a most gratifying increase in maritime enterprise; and this fact is the more significant when coupled with the circumstance that while, as compared with the previous year, the tonnage and the number of arrivals and departures of American vessels at Amoy have very nearly doubled, and the imports and exports in American bottoms have increased about 300 per cent., at the same time the decrease in the number and tonnage of British ships at this port has been about 30 per cent., and the falling off in the tonnage and carrying trade of Spanish vessels has been about the same. In the arrival and departure of vessels of the Netherlands, the decrease has been about 20 per cent., and falling off in tonnage 40 per cent., taking the average each quarter as a basis, the returns for 1859 being for only three quarters.

These are the principal nations that have trade with Amoy, with the exception of Portugal and some of the smaller German States, from which we have no returns. France has not more, perhaps, than three or four vessels here in a year.

These facts, obtained from official sources, I have embodied in tabular form. I had hoped to be able to make the table more full, but have been unable to obtain further returns at this time, as they are not made up at the various Consulates until the close of the regular year.

Another gratifying fact, and worthy of remark, is, that during the past year the trade between Amoy and the United States direct has largely increased; and of the $627,908 value of goods exported in American vessels, $423,400 worth have been in teas direct to the United States, an increase over the previous year of quite 300 per cent. There have been, during the same period, six American vessels from Amoy to the United States direct, and one ship from California, and one from Puget Sound, to this port direct; the former in ballast, the latter with ship timber, spars, &c. In the import of ship timber from the west coast of the United States quite a considerable trade is likely to be kept up.

A new and substantial dry-dock has been constructed at Amoy during the year, by foreign capital and enterprise; and the safety of this harbor, and the easy access to it, and the destructive gales and typhoons which sweep along the coast of China during every season, will make Amoy, central as it is, a very favorable port for repairing damages to shipping, as well as for ship building, and will, as I have observed, create an increased demand for American spars and ship-timber. The Oregon spars are highly prized, and deemed of a very superior quality in this country.

A large and increasing coasting trade and trade with the neighboring islands and countries of Japan, Manilla, Singapore, Siam, &c., is bringing to its service the more safe and speedy-sailing American clipper. Many of our vessels are constantly engaged in this trade, often chartered by European merchants, and quite frequently by Chinese merchants and shippers.

One obstacle to the more general employment of our shipping in this trade heretofore has been the circumstance that the Dutch, Spanish, Portuguese, and in fact the vessels of all nations, save the three great treaty Powers of Great Britain, France and the United States, have been admitted into the ports of China without being required, like those of the treaty nations, to report, and pay full tonnage duties; hence these nations, that have no commercial rights and privileges conceded to them by treaty, have in fact been enjoying privileges and immunities far beyond those guaranteed to the treaty Powers, and their vessels have uniformly been admitted without paying any regular tonnage dues, often at one-half or one-third the rates charged to American vessels. To such an unjust proceeding I have felt bound to enter an earnest protest, and to demand that our vessels should be admitted into this port on terms as easy as those granted to the most favored nations. To remedy the evil, a meeting of the Consuls and merchants of the various nations represented at Amoy was held a few weeks since, at which, on it being set forth that the non-treaty nations must pay the legal tonnage dues, such as were exacted from us, or that we should insist upon having our ships admitted upon the same reduced rates as theirs, all the Consuls and agents of these non-treaty nations thereupon pledged themselves to report to the Chinese Custom-house authorities the true amount of the tonnage of their vessels, and pay the same as the treaty nations. If this agreement continues to be carried out in good faith our shipping will doubtless obtain the greater share of the carrying trade on the coast and the adjacent islands and countries, as their capacity and superior sailing qualities give them a great preëminence over the ships of most other nations, and are very generally acknowledged by enterprising merchants and shippers, and even by the more intelligent and enterprising Chinese merchants, who wish to avoid delays and the dangers from piracy which attend their own clumsy, inefficient sailing craft.

The opening of additional ports in China by the new treaty just gone into effect will doubtless have a tendency to extend American commerce. The island of Formosa (of the trade of which I have spoken at more length in my dispatch of the 14th June last, just after my return from a short visit to that island) will open up a new field for legitimate trade, although a great drawback will be found in the want of good harbors, and only vessels of a light draught of water can be safely and advantageously employed in that direction. It seems to me a great mistake that Fan-Shwui or Kee-lung, near to where the coal mines are, as well as Ta-Kau, at the opposite end of the island, had not been directly opened to trade as well as Fai-wan. More trade, I believe, is now, and has been for several years, carried on at either of those ports than at Fai-wan.

The opium traffic continues to be the great overshadowing interest in the way of imports. The amount of this drug imported into Amoy alone during the past year is believed to be over $3,000,000 in value, and it will probably exceed $50,000,000 for all China. This is now admitted at a mere nominal duty.

Our new treaty with China has not yet been published or generally circulated, so that it is impossible at this period to judge what effect its new provisions may have upon our commerce and relations with this country.

The Coolie traffic at this port seems nearly to have subsided. No American vessels have been to Amoy for Coolies during the past year.

THE SOUTHERN CONFERENCE.

The Upshot of the Whole Matter—Ambassador Memminger presents his Report—Virginia is Afraid, and South Carolina Dare not Move.

Mr. MEMMINGER, the Commissioner from South Carolina to solicit Virginia to meet the slaveholding States in a General Convention for the purpose of devising measures for the maintenance of their constitutional rights, has made the following report to the Governor of his State:

CHARLESTON, Feb. 13, 1860.

His Excellency, Wm. H. Gist, Governor of South Carolina:

DEAR SIR: I respectfully report to your Excellency that, upon the receipt of your appointment to the office of Commissioner to the State of Virginia, I proceeded to the City of Richmond. On my arrival there I was received by a Committee of the General Assembly as the guest of the State of Virginia; and every attention which the most courteous and refined hospitality could suggest was exhibited towards me during my whole stay in Richmond.

The Governor of Virginia, with considerate forecast, had prepared the way for my introduction to the General Assembly, and promptly communicated my credentials and the object of my mission; and I was invited by the General Assembly to explain at large the views of South Carolina before the assembled authorities of Virginia. This invitation I accepted, and the Governor and the Judges of the State, together with both branches of the General Assembly, met together in the Capitol to do honor to the State of South Carolina, and to evince their high respect for her message.

I herewith submit to your Excellency a summary of the address which I had the honor to deliver on that occasion, as the same was subsequently printed by order of the General Assembly.

After the delivery of this address I remained in Richmond, in the expectation of bearing back to your Excellency the answer of the General Assembly of Virginia. That honorable body, however, was not prepared to make so speedy a response, and under the circumstances it seemed to me best that I should return home and await the result of their deliberations. Accordingly I addressed to the Governor of Virginia a final communication, of which a copy is inclosed, and on the 9th inst. took leave of his Excellency and returned home.

Whatever may be the result of the mission in relation to the conference proposed, its effects cannot fail to be beneficial in other respects. The warm and kindly feeling which was exhibited to me was, of course, the expression of that feeling towards the State which I represented, and every South Carolinian may justly share in it. On every occasion of public festivity or private intercourse where our State or people were named, the demonstrations of kindness and respect were so marked as to evince the warmest sympathy and fellow feeling. And although the extent of this great State, and the diversity of sentiment which yet prevails among her people as to proper remedies, may impair her unity and promptness of action, yet her high tone and the manly spirit of elevated patriotism manifested by her sons insure her eventual support of the equal constitutional rights of the South.

These rights, most of her people still think, can yet be secured by measures within the Union; and the apprehension that the proposed conference must lead to disunion has hitherto been the hindrance to its adoption. This apprehension, I have endeavored to show, can only become serious in case the North shall refuse justice to the South. If the constitutional rights of the South be set at naught—if her security be disregarded—if a sectional party take possession of the Government and deliver up the South, without any constitutional protection, to the combined hatred of fanaticism and faction, then the Union becomes an instrument of tyranny, and the South its victim. In that case truly the apprehension of disunion from a conference would be just. But if, as many in Virginia believe, there is yet fraternal feeling enough existing at the North to stay the tide of fanaticism and to do justice to the South, then the apprehension of disunion from a conference is without foundation. On the contrary, a conference becomes in fact the very best instrument to assist the supposed fraternal feeling of the North. It would bring to its aid the united action of the South, and by presenting a bold and manly front would compel the adversary to respect their rights and yield to their demands.

This view of the subject seems so just that I cannot doubt but that it will finally prevail in Virginia. The defenders of Southern rights there are firm and elevated patriots. They will not be deterred by present difficulties; and even should they fail at present in carrying a Southern conference, I have an abiding conviction that they will be sustained by their people, and that Virginia will assuredly take her place in the united council of the South.

With much respect, your obedient servant,

C. G. MEMMINGER.

RICHMOND, Feb. 8, 1860.

His Excellency, John Letcher, Governor of Virginia:

DEAR SIR: Having discharged the duties of my mission to the State of Virginia, I have been waiting in expectation of bearing back the answer of the General Assembly. But, as that honorable body is not yet prepared to respond, and may desire still further time for deliberation, I have concluded to return home, and to request your Excellency to communicate to the Governor of South Carolina the final answer of the Assembly.

In taking leave of your Excellency, permit me to express the grateful remembrance which I shall bear with me of the regard and respect which have been exhibited toward the people of South Carolina, and of the kindness and hospitality to myself. Whatever may be the issue of the present mission, I earnestly hope that it may serve more closely to unite our respective people in the bonds of mutual affection and good will. With much respect, your obedient servant,

C. G. MEMMINGER.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
UNIONVILLE, S. C., Feb. 20, 1860.

Hon C. G. Memminger:

DEAR SIR: In acknowledging the receipt of your report on your mission to the State of Virginia, accompanied with a copy of your address before the Legislature, it affords me great pleasure to say that the views presented and arguments advanced seem to me unanswerable. And although Virginia may hesitate or refuse to act at first, the power of truth will ultimately prevail, and she will take her proper place as a leader of the South in maintaining our rights and redressing our wrongs, in or out of the Union.

Whatever may be the result of your mission in other respects, Virginia has certainly given evidence, in the courtesy and kindness extended to you, and in the respectful consideration of the resolutions of her high regard for South Carolina, and of a proper appreciation of her motives, for which she is entitled to our respectful acknowledgments.

Allow me to congratulate you, Sir, upon the faithful and able manner in which you have discharged the high trust committed to you, and to thank you, in the name of the State, for your distinguished services.

WM. H. GIST.

Hay Speculators.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

I think it would not be amiss to call the attention of hay buyers to a class of men called "hay speculators" by some, by whom the most outrageous frauds are committed. The modus operandi is this. A farmer brings a load of hay to market, has it weighed, and receives a "weigher's ticket" as a guarantee that the load is as the former represents. Now, the speculator buys this hay and receives the "weigher's ticket," unloads the hay, and then reloads; making two loads from one, but in such a manner that it has the appearance of a full load, and as such the "speculator" represents it, producing the "weigher's ticket" as proof. I know of one or two instances that I can produce to substantiate what I have said, where money has been offered to keep it still. I can further venture to assert, that eight out of every ten loads of hay that are sold by these speculators are "bogus loads," and that the buyer who purchases a load of hay that is represented as weighing say 1,800 or 2,000 pounds, does not receive more than 1,000 or 1,200 pounds. A SUFFERER.

The Affair on Board the Brooklyn.

NEW-YORK, Monday, March 5, 1860.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Permit me to say that, concerning the so-called homicide on board the sloop-of-war Brooklyn, too much weight is evidently given to the testimony of the sailors who were confined on board for insubordination, mutiny, &c. There is little doubt that a full examination will exculpate the superior officers of the vessel, whatever may be the result to COOPER and RAY.

In regard to Captain FARRAGUT, all who know him are confident that a more kind-hearted or honorable man is not in the service, nor one less capable of cruelty or injustice. The public should therefore hesitate before thus hastily prejudging and censuring unheard an officer who has spent his whole life in the service of his country in an honorable and creditable manner. The writer is in no way connected with the Navy, but knows Captain F, and is confident of the truth of what he writes. JUSTICE.

"Justitia" and "Temperantia."

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

If your correspondent "Justitia" will go to work, coat off and sleeves rolled up, to promote the enforcement of laws against unlicensed rum-selling on the other six days of the week, and give up his fault-finding against those who are successfully laboring to put down Sunday tippling, as one part of their appropriate work, he will better vindicate the sincerity of his principles than by riding the old hobby of reforms—attempting everything, and thus accomplishing nothing. That's all. JUSTITIA.

LAW REPORTS.

General Sessions.

KEEPERS OF DISORDERLY HOUSES SENTENCED.

Hermann Krall, a First-Ward politician, was indicted for keeping a notoriously disorderly house, at No. 180 Greenwich-street. The profits of the house are said to amount to $300 per week. He pleaded guilty. Judge RUSSELL fined him $100, and discharged him. The fine was ready, and was immediately handed to the Clerk of the Court.

William Muller, and his wife, Lena Muller, indicted for keeping a disorderly house at No. 210 Chatham-street, also pleaded guilty. They had not been long in the business, but had their fine ready. They were not fined, however, but were sent to Blackwell's Island for two months. The diversity of treatment by the Judge in these two cases occasioned considerable remark in Court.

John Farrell, Michael Farrell and Thomas Beglou, mere boys, were tried for burglary in the third degree. On the night of Feb. 3 they broke into the store of E. K. Kesner, No. 648 Ninth-avenue, and stole sundry moneys, in all amounting to nearly $4. John Farrell, in whose possession the "jimmies" and other housebreaking tools were found, was convicted of petit larceny, and remanded for sentence. The other boys were acquitted.

Bridget Williams, on the night of Dec. 31, intent on "seeing the old year out, and the new year in," went to the store of Henry Harman, No. 427 Tenth-street, to purchase convivial nourishment for the inner creature. In payment therefor, she offered a counterfeit $3 bill on the Bank of Brattleboro, Vt, and was taken into custody, and similar counterfeits being found in her possession, was transferred to this Court. She pleaded guilty to forgery in the fourth degree, and was remanded for sentence.

Mary Wheeler and Ann Morris pleaded guilty to an assault on a boy named Wm. Welch, in August last, and were remanded for sentence. Welch was an errand boy in the service of a milliner of whom Mary Wheeler had ordered a bonnet. The boy took the bonnet home, with instructions not to leave it unless he was paid for it. Payment was not forthcoming, and on his insisting to take it back he was assaulted.

All About a Piano Manufactory.

MOTION FOR AN INJUNCTION.

Charles E. Atherton vs. Samuel H. Cooper and others.—Two of the parties to this action were formerly partners in business, at Nos. 94, 96, 98, 100 and 102 East Thirty-first-street, and Nos. 156 and 158 East Twenty-first-street, and at No. 645 Broadway, in the manufacture and sale of pianos. The plaintiff claims that two chattel mortgages given to the firm, one to Erastus F. Mead, and the other to Edward N. Bloom, the amount in all $3,600, were fraudulent. These mortgages were foreclosed and the property sold, and bought in by Knox & Trimble. This sale is alleged by the plaintiff to have been improperly conducted, and it is also averred that there was collusion between the defendant Cooper, the mortgagees, and Knox & Trimble, the purchasers.

This action was brought to wind up the partnership, and for the appointment of a Receiver, and for an injunction to restrain the purchasers from using or disposing of the property. The defence is, that the mortgages were bona fide, that the sale was made in good faith, and that there was no fraud or collusion in any transaction complained of. The motion for an injunction was now argued before Justice LEONARD, at Chambers, and decision reserved.

Judge Edmonds & W. T. Van Riper for plaintiff; Mead & Taft for Cooper & Mead; Mr. McDermot for Bloom; C. Jones for Knox & Trimble.

United States Circuit Court—MARCH 6.

This Court was opened this morning, Judge BETTS taking his seat upon the Bench, together with Judge SMALLEY of the District of Vermont, whom Judge BETTS introduced to the Bar, mentioning that he had been designated by Judge NELSON, in accordance with the statute of 1852, to hold the Court here to relieve the pressure of the business. He also announced that the equity and criminal calendar would be taken up and disposed of in turn, until the 1st of April, when the general calendar would be called by him, unless Judge NELSON should by that time be able to be here.

Judge BETTS then retired to open the District Court, and Judge SMALLEY proceeded to call the calendar, but found nothing ready, and adjourned the Court.

The Old Police Cases.

A WHOLESALE TRIAL OF THEM.

The People ex rel. William Gorman and 270 others.—These are the famous "old Police cases," and by the following order, now obtained of Justice SUTHERLAND at Chambers, by Beebe, Dean & Donohue, it will be seen that they are at once to come upon the calendar for trial. "It is ordered that the issues of fact joined in the several cases hereunto annexed, be placed on the day calendar of the Circuit, Part II., (before Justice JAMES,) for trial on Tuesday, March 13."

Beebe, Dean & Donohue for relators.

The question is to be submitted to the voters of Rhode Island, whether they will authorize the General Assembly to make a loan of $150,000, to defray the cost of erecting a State-house in Providence. Better accommodations are very much needed, but the Providence Journal thinks it bad policy to create a State debt in order to erect a building.

Page's "Venus" is on exhibition in Charleston. A correspondent of the Mercury objects to the exhibition, as likely to produce pernicious effects, especially upon the minds of the younger portion of the community.

TUESDAY, March 6—P. M.

There was another active Stock market at the early Board to-day, with a well distributed demand, but some realizing on one or two stocks by the Bull speculators on the recent advance. For State and Railway Bonds, and also for Federal Securities, prices were even stiffer than yesterday and the same remark applies to City Bank shares and Delaware and Hudson, for all which the outside orders continue to improve in a moderate way. It was difficult to buy United States Fives, Virginias, North Carolinas, or Tennessees, even in exceeding small orders, without advancing the price, while Missouris were freely taken at 80⅜ ₱ cent. Hudson first mortgage sold for 103½, and for the thirds 85½ ₱ cent. was bid. Further sales of Brooklyn Water Loan were made at 101 ₱ cent. Metropolitan Bank brought 109½; Merchants' Bank 106, and Delaware and Hudson 93⅞, closing 93¾@94 ₱ cent. The Michigan Central 8 ₱ cents sold again at 95, with nearly 4 ₱ cent. (April) interest included. Pacific Mail was barely steady, and Panama ½@¾ ₱ cent. weaker than yesterday, closing about 133@133¼ ₱ cent.

When the active speculative Railways were reached at the early Board, a free demand for New-York Central was supplied at 72 ₱ cent., supposed by one or two recent buyers, and this induced sellers' options at 71⅞, and subsequent cash sales on the Street at 71⅞@71⅛ cash. This decline was not recovered from at the Second Board, when nearly all the transactions were at 71⅞ ₱ cent., closing at that figure as against 71⅞@72 ₱ cent. yesterday afternoon. The bidding for Galena started off at the full rates of yesterday, and a heavy business was done from 58⅞ down to 58⅜@½, but on a declining scale in consequence of free sales by one or two brokers usually operating in the stock for the Chicago speculators. The annual report published in this morning's TIMES was variously construed on the Street, and the effect, so far as the sales of the day tell the story, would seem to be adverse. Chicago and Rock Island held firm at the early Board at 63⅞, and closed steady in the afternoon at 63¾@½ ₱ cent. Toledo and Michigan Central were firmer than yesterday, and closed with some demand. The February traffic in Michigan Central shows a gain of $4,700 on last season. Illinois Central was again in demand and sold up to 59⅞, closing 59⅝@½ ₱ cent. Michigan Southern, both old and guaranteed shares, were ½@¾ ₱ cent. weaker than yesterday. The general market at 4 o'clock left off with less decided activity than yesterday on the Share list, but without pressure to sell at the decline noticed in the foregoing review.

After the closing of the Boston steamer mail Money and Exchange affairs were very quiet. Early in the day, a leading Banking firm took the market for Exchange at 108⅞ ₱ cent. on London, and supplied the principal demand, which was a fair one. Some Southern Bank bills were done at 108⅜. The principal Continental drawer did a moderate trade business on Paris at f.5.16¼. The closing quotations were: On London, 108⅞@108⅞; Paris, f.5.17½@f.5.16¼. The demand for money is behind the supply offered on the Street, at 5@6 ₱ cent. on temporary use, and 6@7 ₱ cent. on first-class discounts, as in date. The last mail quotations from New-Orleans, to March 2, for Exchange, are:

"The leading feature of the market to-day was a further decline of ⅛ in rates of clear sterling bills. Offerings of both foreign and domestic exchange continue exceedingly limited, though ample for the demand, which has become further restricted, and the tendency in all descriptions is to still lower figures. We quote approximating rates at the close of business as follows: Clear sterling bills, 108@108⅜. Bill of lading drafts, 107¼@107¾. Francs, 5f.18¾@5f.23¾ ₱ dollar. Sixty day bills on New-York, ¼@2 ₱ cent. discount. Sight ⅛ discount to ⅛ ₱ cent. premium. Some of the banks, however, still exact ¼ ₱ cent. premium, but of course sales at this figure are confined to small amounts, and are much restricted at that."

Messrs. WRIGHT & Co. say in their circular of this week, prepared for the Boston steamer:

"In this city the idea has been general for some time that the Southern markets must decline under anticipation of lower prices from Liverpool and the continuance of heavy receipts at the ports; so far, however, no decline of moment has been submitted to, and it may be we have already in part discounted the effect of both, since it is a matter of certainty that had the crop promised a total below 4,250,000 bales, the prices in this country would now be considerably higher on all qualities from Middling upwards. The continued heavy receipts at the ports give currency to estimates exceeding 4,300,000 bales. We think the opinions on the subject are exaggerated. People argue that because our receipts up to this time are 3,565,000 bales, we ought to receive a proportionate supply during the remainder of the season. We incline to the opinion that the very magnitude of supply so far, gives ground for belief in a cessation of receipts shortly."

Messrs. NEILL BROTHERS and some of the private estimates of the crop place the figure at or above 4,500,000 bales. The wants of Manchester, however, are so great, and the profits and employment of the spinners so ample, that a few hundred thousand bales more or less, in a season of such unexampled prosperity to the trade, on both sides, seem to make little impression upon prices.

The Commercial says of the currency movement at St. Louis:

"An attempt has recently been made by some of the bank officers of St. Louis to establish a system of par exchange and redemption of the bank issues of the banks of Missouri at St. Louis upon a specie basis, the object being to make the circulating notes of the banks of that State equal to coin; but as the banks were unable to agree upon any of the plans proposed, the effort was unsuccessful. We are pleased, however, to find that there is one bank in St. Louis which proposes to continue its efforts to secure a result so desirable, and which would very greatly promote the prosperity of the State. The following preamble and resolution, unanimously adopted by the Board of Directors of the Merchants' Bank of St. Louis, are to the point, and we commend them to the other banks of that growing city:

Whereas, A meeting of the Bank Presidents has been held, and it has been ascertained that no united action can be had, looking to the full, complete and entire restoration of a specie basis; and, whereas, this Board believe that the best interest of the State and of the Bank demand that, as soon as practicable, all Missouri money shall be at par in the commercial metropolis of the State: therefore,

Resolved, That the President be directed, in the name of this Board, to petition the Legislature to pass an act directing that, from and after the 1st day of July next, no Bank shall pay out, in discharge of its liabilities, any bank-note which it will not redeem in coin at its counter.

At the last meeting of the Canal Board, Mr. DORSHEIMER offered a resolution to appoint the following as the Deposit Banks in this City: Nassau Bank, Importers and Traders' Bank, Shoe and Leather Bank.

A majority of the Provision merchants and brokers signed an agreement to-day to abandon the Corn Exchange and to meet henceforward, for the transaction of business, at the Merchants' Exchange, between the hours of 11 o'clock A. M. and 12 M. The principal cause of this movement is the dissatisfaction of the trade, who forcibly object to the very poor accommodation which has been provided for their interest on the main floor of the Corn Exchange.

The Customs to-day were $206,000; other receipts into the Sub-Treasury, $132,000; disbursements, $344,000; balance this afternoon, $8,695,008.

The Rochester Union, of March 3, says:

We are informed, that on and after Monday, the Buffalo, New-York and Erie Railroad Company will take flour from that city to New-York, over the Genesee Valley Road, for forty cents ₱ barrel. There was a reduction made only a week since in the tariff, when fifty cents ₱ barrel was the rate agreed upon, but the prospect of the immediate opening of the Hudson has rendered a further reduction of the Erie road necessary to meet the Central tariff. The rate is only thirty-five cents to Albany, and the barges are taking it on board to move as soon as the river opens, and take it to New-York for eight cents more.

The following is a comparative statement of the Exports (exclusive of Specie) from New-York to Foreign Ports for the week and since Jan. 1:

DRY GOODS—The public sales to-day, though well attended, did not result very satisfactorily, as most of the goods which were disposed of, especially the Silks and Delaines, were sold at low prices.

FISH—The market continues quiet. Prices exhibit no noticeable changes.

FLOUR AND MEAL—The market for State and Western Flour has been somewhat unsettled, to-day. Low and medium grades have been in slack request at about former rates. A good inquiry, however, prevails for the better descriptions, which are quoted a shade firmer. Sales have been made of 11,000 bbls., including superfine State at $5 20@$5 25; ordinary to very choice extra State at $5 40@$5 60, chiefly at $5 45@$5 50; inferior to choice superfine Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan and Ohio, at $5 20@$5 30; extra Iowa and Wisconsin, at $5 40@$6 40; extra Illinois, Indiana and Michigan, at $5 45@$6 50; inferior extra Ohio at $5 80@$5 90; round hoop extra Ohio, shipping brands, at $5 95@$6 10, ₱ bbl.

Inferior to choice Extra Missouri	6 00	@ 7 50

Southern Flour is less active, being held above the views of most buyers. The reported sales comprise 2,750 bbls., in lots, at $5 80@$6 10 for poor to good superfine Alexandria, Baltimore, &c.; and $6 15@$7 50 for fancy to choice extra brands, ₱ bbl. Canadian continues in request, including inferior to very choice extra, chiefly at $5 75@$7 25 ₱ bbl. About 280 bbls. changed hands within the range. Rye Flour is quiet, at $3 60@$4 40 for fine and superfine, ₱ bbl. Corn Meal is in demand, at $3 65@3 70 for Jersey; $4 for Baltimore, and $4 15 for Brandywine, ₱ bbl. Buckwheat Flour, $1 75@$1 87½ ₱ 100 lbs.

FOREIGN LIQUORS—Have been in good request at buoyant prices.

FRUIT—The current movements are limited. Prices remain about the same.

GRAIN—Wheat is in good request, and is decidedly firmer. Sales have been reported of 36,700 bushels, including Milwaukee Club and Racine Spring, on terms not ascertained; Chicago Spring at about $1 21; and good strictly prime white Southern at $1 38@$1 42 ₱ bushel. Corn is in fair demand, partly for export, at about former prices. Sales: 22,500 bushels at 78c.@80c. for yellow Jersey and Southern, and 81c. for white Southern, mainly for export, ₱ bushel. Rye is quiet, yet steady at 86c.@88c. ₱ bushel. Barley is in demand, at buoyant prices. Sales have been reported of 7,000 bushels Canada East, at 85c. @ bush. Oats are selling slowly, including Canada at 44c.@44½c.; Western at 44c.@44½c.; State at 44½c.@45c.; Jersey and Pennsylvania, at 41c.@43c.; Southern at 38c.@41c. ₱ bushel.

HAY—Sales have been limited, to-day, at unaltered figures.

HIDES—Have been moderately inquired for at previous quotations.

HOPS—Sales have been reported of 60 bales last year's crop, poor to prime, at 8c.@16c. ₱ lb.

IRON—We have heard of sales of 120 tons Scotch Pig, at $25 50@$26 ₱ ton, usual terms.

LEAD—Has been in fair request, and has been held with more firmness.

LEATHER—Sole is in demand, at uniform rates.

LUMBER—The inquiry is fair for desirable qualities, which are quoted firm.

MOLASSES—Sales have been reported of 170 bbls. New-Orleans, chiefly at 47c.@48c.; 50 hhds. Porto Rico, at 40c.; and 100 hhds. Cuba Muscovado, at 28c.@30c. ₱ gallon.

NAVAL STORES—Crude Turpentine has been quiet, yet firm, a $3 62½ ₱ 280 lbs. Week's receipts, 1,045 bbls.; sales, 600 bbls.; estimated stock, at the close, 9,500 bbls. Spirits Turpentine has been in fair demand, at rising prices. Week's receipts, 2,472 bbls.; sales, 3,750 bbls., in lots, closing at 48c.@48½c. for merchantable and shipping lots, ₱ gallon; estimated stock, 4,500 bbls. Reviewing the week's business in this commodity, Messrs. BARTON & STOCKER remark: "The light stock of this article noted in our Circular of the 28th ult. has been still further lessened by the sales of the past week, and prices at the close are a shade higher. The receipts meanwhile have been but moderate, and from all accounts are not likely to be very heavy for the immediate future. The late advices from the other side have had the effect of increasing the firmness of holders here, as well as of bringing into the market orders which were being kept back for lower rates. Some disposition has been evinced on the part of operators to purchase parcels deliverable during this month and April at rather full rates, but as yet only one or two transactions of this nature have transpired. The home trade is still buying lightly; the demand for the manufacturers at this not warranting very heavy purchases." Tar has been very lightly dealt in,—sales having been confined to 600 bbls. Newbern at $2 [illegible] ₱ bbl., filled (in order, in yard. Week's receipts [illegible]; estimated stock 3,500 bbls. Resin has been plenty and depressed, closing with Common, to arrive and here, at $1 57½@$1 62½ ₱ 310 lbs.; strained at $1 65@$1 70; No. 2 at $1 75@$1 90 ₱ 310 lbs.; and No. 1 at $2@$4 50 ₱ 280 lbs. Week's receipts 14,[illegible] bbls.; estimated stock of Common 9,000 bbls. Messrs. LUCAS & TURNER have prepared the following statement of the Naval Store Trade of New-York, Jan. 1 to March 6, 1860.

OILS—Have been moderately inquired for at previous figures.

PROVISIONS—Pork has been purchased to the extent of only 1,100 bbls., in lots, chiefly at $16 37 for New Mess, $17 37½@$17 50 for Old Mess, $14 62@$14 75 for New Prime, and $12 50 for Old Prime, per bbl. Cut Meats are in request, including Hams at 9½c.@9¾c., and Shoulders at 6⅞c.@7⅛c. ₱ lb. Bacon is inquired for, chiefly at 9½c.@11c. ₱ lb. Lard is unaltered; sales have been reported since our last of 470 tcs. and bbls., chiefly at from 10¾c.@11⅛c. ₱ lb. Beef is more sought after, at uniform rates. Sales have been made of 800 bbls., in lots, at $9 25@$10 50 for repacked Western Mess; $11 25@$12 50 for extra Western Mess; $5 25@$5 50 for Country Mess ₱ bbl. Prime Mess, $16@$19; India Mess, $22 ₱ tc. Beef Hams, $13@$16 ₱ bbl. Butter is moderately inquired for, at 14c.@21c. for State, and 11c.@15c. for Ohio, ₱ lb. Cheese continues in fair demand, at 10c.@13c. ₱ lb.

RICE—Sales to-day 150 tcs., at $3 75@$4 25 ₱ 100 lbs.

SPELTER—The demand is moderate. Prices exhibit no important changes.

SUGARS—Sales have been made to-day of 300 hhds. Cuba, at 6c.@7¼c., with, by auction, 201 hhds. Porto Rico, at 7⅛c.@7⅜c., and 169 hhds. New-Orleans, at 6c.@6⅞c. ₱ lb.

TALLOW—Sales have been made of 80,000 lbs. Prime, at 11c.@11⅛c. ₱ lb.

TEAS—Have been less active, yet quoted firm.

TIN—Has been lightly dealt in at old figures.

TOBACCO—The demand has been moderate, and sales have been made, since Friday last, of 32 hhds. Kentucky, at 6½c.@10½c.; 168 cases Seed Leaf, at 4½c.@20c; 26 cases Florida, at 14c.@28c.; 145 bales Havana, at 30c.@32½c., and 75 bales Yara on private terms.

FEMALE SEMINARY,
BURLINGTON, VT.
Rev. JOHN K. CONVERSE, A. M., Principal.
The location of this Seminary is beautiful and healthy; the accommodations in the family of the Principal are ample; the discipline strict, yet kind and parental. The Board of instruction is filled with able and experienced teachers.
The advantages in this Institution for a thorough education are probably not surpassed in any school of the kind in New-England. The expenses are moderate.
Catalogues containing terms, course of instruction, &c., may be obtained by calling at the book-store of Sheldon & Co., No. 115 Nassau-st., or on application to the Principal, at Burlington, Vt.

COLUMBIA COLLEGE, Jan. 9, 1860.
I have conversed with Signor BALBO on the subject of his Latin Grammar; have read his preface, and also looked into his system as far as a limited time would permit. I do not hesitate to recommend his work as one calculated to be of great benefit to the students of the Latin tongue, being the production of one who is himself a thorough Latin scholar.

MAPLEWOOD YOUNG LADIES' INSTITUTE, Pittsfield, Mass., commences its Thirty-eighth Semi-Annual Session on April 5. With a large corps of permanent professors, ample cabinets, and apparatus, the finest gymnasium in New-England, and other rare facilities for physical training; in a location celebrated for its beauty and salubrity, it presents unrivaled advantages for female education. To graduates of other schools, some of whom are always in attendance, the Institute affords opportunities for acquisitions to almost any extent in the fine arts and modern languages. For circulars address the principals, Rev. C. V. SPEAR and Rev. J. R. BOYD.

CORRECT PRONUNCIATION OF FRENCH IN TWELVE LESSONS.—The subscriber being occupied in giving instruction in the French language, on WEDNESDAY and SATURDAY EVENINGS, to a family residing in Madison-av., who are going to Paris, would like a few more pupils in that vicinity, on the afternoons of the same days. NEWS OF THE DAY.

A shocking but painfully common casualty was repeated yesterday on the Delaware River. A new steamboat, named the Alfred Thomas, which had been built at Easton, to ply between Belvidere, New-Jersey, and Port Jervis, set out from Easton in the morning, to ascend the stream. There appears to have been a large number of passengers on board. Hardly had the boat passed from the sight of the starting place when the boiler exploded, tearing the hull to pieces, and violently scattering the passengers in all directions. The exact number of killed and wounded is still unascertained. Ten names of the dead have been given, and eleven of those seriously injured. It is feared the loss is much greater.

Mr. Thaddeus Hyatt was brought to the bar of the Senate yesterday; and on motion of Mr. Mason, was required to excuse himself for contempt of Senatorial process. He was given until Friday to frame his answer, remaining meanwhile in the custody of the Sergeant-at-Arms. Mr. Brown, of Mississippi, having called up his resolutions, spoke upon them at some length, arguing the legal and constitutional points in favor of Congressional legislation for the protection of Slavery in the territories, in cases where Territorial Legislatures refuse to make the requisite enactments. He declared that at a future time he should add a resolution that the contingency alluded to already exists, and that federal action should be had at once. Mr. Fitch, of Indiana, attempted a reply, after which the subject was laid aside. The Military Academy bill was debated upon the amendment appropriating $1,100,000 to pay Texan volunteers for the defence of the Mexican frontier. Mr. Wigfall spoke for the amendment, which Messrs. Fessenden and Toombs opposed. Pending the discussion, a communication was received from the President enclosing the letter of Gov. Houston on the subject, with a communication from the Secretary at War, accompanying documentary evidence of the state of affairs upon the Rio Grande. The House passed the bill for the protection of female emigrants. The subject of the codification of the Revenue Laws was made the special order for the first Tuesday of April. The resolution reported by Mr. Washburne, of Illinois, from the Committee on Commerce, applying a balance of appropriation for a lighthouse and pier at Chicago to improvements of the harbor, was adopted. Petitions from Philadelphia and from Mobile desiring that steamers of light draught may be substituted for the present sailing vessels engaged in the revenue service were presented. The election of a Chaplain was the special order. After two votes, Rev. Thomas H. Stockton, who acted in the same capacity in the twenty-ninth Congress, was found to be elected by a decided majority. The Mileage bill, with Mr. Sherman's amendment, was then taken up, and passed by a vote of 154 to 21. Mr. Hoard, of New-York, offered a resolution asking for a select committee to inquire into certain statements made by Messrs. Adrain, Haskin and Hickman in December last, to the effect that the President had endeavored to bribe them from their course of duty. Mr. Branch hoped that no objection would be made from the Democratic side. If the President were to blame, it should be known. If not, the calumnies should be exposed. Mr. Houston and others participated in an exciting debate, after which the resolution was adopted. Both Houses of Congress received during the day, and accepted, invitations from the ladies of the Mount Vernon Association to visit Mount Vernon to-day.

In the State Senate Mr. Manierre presented petitions and remonstrances in relation to railroads in the City; and introduced a bill to incorporate the American Zoological and Botanical Society, with provision for its grounds and hall in the Central Park. The Governor's Message was debated in Committee of the Whole; Mr. P. P. Murphy defending the leading provisions of the Executive paper. The Quarantine bill was made the special order for to-morrow evening.

In the Assembly Committee of the Whole, the Usury Laws were under discussion. After a protracted debate, a motion to strike out the enacting clause was lost. Six per cent. was substituted for seven as the legal rate of interest. The bill was amended so as to take effect on the 1st of June next, and was ordered to a third reading. During the Evening Session various measures were discussed in Committee and also ordered to third reading.

The Cahawba, which arrived here yesterday from Havana, bore to that city the news of the Spanish victory at Tetuan. The excitement and rejoicing were boundless; salutes were fired, and a programme of a grand celebration of the event arranged. The United States steamer Mohawk was at Matanzas, and the Crusader at Sagua la Grande. Havana remains healthy.

Before the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, at Philadelphia, yesterday, the Commissioners of Allegheny County were brought by the Sheriff to answer for contempt in refusing to obey a writ of mandamus issued by the tribunal. Persisting in their recusancy, the Court inflicted a fine of $1,000 upon each, and committed them to the charge of the Sheriff until it should be paid. An alias mandamus was at once sued out by the plaintiff, and unless the Commissioners yield, they will be again arraigned and fined.

Justice Sutherland, of the Supreme Court, has made an order setting down the "Old Police Cases," so called, for trial, to commence March 13.

The exhibition of the German Turners yesterday afternoon, in Orchard-street, of various contrivances for saving life at fires, attracted a large crowd of persons, who appeared well satisfied with the experiments made. An exhibition before the City authorities will probably take place at an early day, with a view to determine the practicability of organizing companies for the use of this description of apparatus.

The Historical Society last evening made its acknowledgments for a valuable donation of Egyptian historical works, received from Mr. R. K. Haight, and also for several autograph letters written by Humboldt and Lafayette. A course of lectures was announced for the purpose of calling the attention of the members to the propriety of purchasing the Abbott Egyptian collection. The subjects will be appropriate to that object. Rev Mr. Hopkins read a paper on the witchcraft of the American colonies, taking the ground that our forefathers have been greatly maligned on that score. He estimated the total number of persons in the colonies accused of witchcraft at 406, and the executed at 32.

There was less decided firmness in Stocks yesterday, except on State Securities and the better class of Railway Bonds. The Share market fell off ½@1 ₱ cent. on New-York Central, and ¾ on Galena. Exchange on London, 108¾, principal sales. Money easy.

Cotton was more active at unchanged prices. Flour was in fair demand, and the better grades were dearer. Wheat, Corn and Barley attracted more attention. The movements in Groceries, Provisions, Naval Stores, Oils, Fish, Dyewoods, Fruit, Metals, and Whisky were restricted. Tallow was in lively request. A moderate inquiry prevailed for Tobacco, Hops, Hides and Leather. Freights were quiet.

Our City Railroads.

The Legislature seems inclined to make provision for the wants of the City in the matter of locomotion. The Committee of the Assembly has reported bills providing for five new lines of Railroad from the upper part of the City to the lower. The grants are made to certain persons named in the bills: the routes which the roads shall follow are prescribed: the consent of the Common Council is not asked, but that honorable body is required to furnish all needed aid for the construction of these roads, and never to grant permission for the construction of any others. Naturally enough, our City Government resents being thus summarily squelched, and measures have already been taken in the two Boards to protest energetically against the menaced action of the Legislature.

Our City certainly needs more railroads, and must have them. The existing facilities for City travel are utterly inadequate to the demand. Although our railroad and omnibus proprietors cram their carriages to suffocation, and pack away their passengers like herrings—not one-fifth of the people who come down town in the morning, or go up town at night, can possibly ride. We need new and greatly increased facilities for City locomotion. We ought to have steam used upon these roads, as it might be with perfect safety, with increased economy and greatly to the accommodation of the public. But in default of the spirit and enterprise to enter upon so bold an experiment as this, we must have new roads,—and the routes marked out by the Legislative Committee are those which demand most imperatively new facilities of transit. That these grants are jobs is undoubtedly true. But we should like to know how we are to have anything done for the public welfare without a job? We are learning something from current experience in this matter. We have ceased to look for disinterested public spirit; we shall be quite content now with interested patriotism,—with measures which really benefit the public, no matter how dearly the public may be compelled to pay for them.

The Legislative Report seems to overlook entirely, however, certain matters which are very important in regard to the regulation of these roads. They commit their supervision to nobody,—they prescribe no rules for their management; they require no security for their good conduct,—but tell the grantees to take the public streets and use them at their own discretion, and with exclusive regard to their own profit. This is all wrong. The roads should be compelled to lay down a rail that will not incommode the ordinary traffic of the City. They should be compelled to furnish comfortable accommodations, including seats, to all who pay their fare. And whenever their profits pass a certain point, they should be required to reduce their fare,—in order that those who use the road may reap some advantage from the value of the franchises thus granted to the corporations. And to render these regulations effective, some proper officer should be clothed with the power of enforcing them. By their charters, the supervision of the roads now in existence is committed to the Common Council;—but such a body cannot exercise authority of that kind with any practical success.

Why should not the Mayor, or better still, the Comptroller, be made Railroad Commissioner for the City, with power to enforce all the rules and regulations that may be made for their conduct? Let him have authority to examine all the books of the several companies,—to insist upon due attention to the rights and necessities of passengers, and generally to represent and enforce the just claims of the public as involved in the conduct of these roads. We certainly need something much more effective than the present system,—which is better than nothing, undoubtedly, but utterly unworthy of a civilized City, pretending to be under the control of laws made and administered for the public good.

The Protective Bureau Scheme.

We perceive Mr. Wood's plan for a protective bureau for emigrants has been made a special order for the next meeting of the Common Council. We sincerely hope they will consign the project to the same grave with the day and night watch, the municipal distribution of flour and potatoes, and divers other products of our worthy Mayor's fertile imagination, which happily for the City have never been carried into execution. We discussed this emigrant bureau when the plan was first propounded, immediately after the election, and showed beyond question that it was entirely unnecessary, inasmuch as far more was done for emigrants by organizations already in existence, than the new scheme could ever effect under the most favorable circumstances. Testimony from various quarters, as to what the Commissioners of Emigration now do, and what the police did do, for emigrants and other strangers, under the orders of Superintendent Pilsbury, has since given ample confirmation to what we then stated.

Mr. Wood's recent course at the Police Board now throws additional and very useful light upon the character and value of his projected reform. When we first denounced it, we made various reservations, in virtue of the presumption which courtesy, if nothing else, compelled us to entertain of his having learned wisdom by experience, and of his determination to behave better in the "Mayorality" than before he was last ejected from it. His action with reference to the management of the police refutes that presumption in a very emphatic and decided manner. It affords very strong evidence that he has forgotten few of his old tricks, and that he still regards the office he fills, and the influence it places in his hands, as means for the gratification of personal ends. We are, in short, forced by it to the conclusion that the less patronage he exercises, and the fewer departments he organizes and presides over, the better for the municipality. A man who shows himself so utterly indifferent to the public interests in his dealings with a body whose efficiency is of such vital importance to the community as the Police, is not at all likely to make an "Emigrant Protective Bureau" a mere refuge for the stranger and wanderer.

We trust the Common Council will therefore commit the scheme to the care of the "day and night watch"—that admirable force, which as we all know, was first called into existence by the "Montgomerie Charter," and now patrols the Stygian shades, in well-earned obscurity. A great many honest people were deluded by the Tribune into a course, at the last election, which gave Wood the Mayoralty. The compact between himself and the Republican politicians, to which he owed his success, and to which we are indebted for his rule, has now been laid bare beyond question or dispute. "George Opdyke," "the Spartan band of Republicans," the glorious Solomon L. Hull, and all the other worthies by whose instrumentality so many people's attention was drawn away from the real issue last Fall, have now disappeared from the scene. The public has before it, in its naked simplicity, as thoroughly disreputable a compact as any which has ever disgraced the politics of our day; and if it does not materially aid them in forming an opinion about the protective bureau, it is very much less sagacious than we give it credit for being. We advise the Common Council to attribute to it, at all events, a thorough appreciation of Mr. Wood's present position and aims, and to act accordingly.

Wants of a Commercial Age.

Now that the affairs of nations are shaping themselves so auspiciously for renewed peace confidence and commercial activity and success, the first urgent call of the new era is for greater and stronger help from the forces and materials of Nature—from heat, from electricity, from the metals and chemical agents,—help to hasten and cheapen our manufactures, production, transportation and intercommunication. We want cheap bread, cheap iron, cheap locomotion,—we want that great art of peace, that mother of useful arts—cheap power. And the people which takes the lead in the commercial availability of its engineering and mechanical works, will lead the world. Napoleon is not only a diplomatist, a financier and a general—he is an engineer; and in this leading department of commercial greatness he is marshaling a mightier force than the army of Italy—the scientific workers and thinkers of France. England is preparing for the peaceful encounter with millions of money and the talent of all nations, encouraging the useful arts by Government schools and institutions, by adopting and monopolizing the services of men who are without honor in their own country, by covering the ocean with her iron screw ships, by cheapening the cost of speed and power, by pushing her railways and steamers into every path of commerce, and by doubling the production of her dominions through steam agriculture.

And what are the preparations of the unapproachable Yankee nation for this noble encounter? Is our Government setting an example of economy and success in its naval and engineering works? Is it pushing the Pacific Railway into the central track of the world's commerce? Is it encouraging its engineers, shipbuilders, machinists and inventors by a diligent search for merit and an impartial reward of success? Is it establishing great institutions and encouraging schools of practical science, and planting the seeds of knowledge and ability whereby we shall cope with the older and wealthier nations of Europe? Is its straightforward and uniform policy giving activity and vigor to our manufactures and commerce, and developing our vast mineral wealth? Is it earnestly seeking out among all nations and liberally encouraging the improvement of agricultural resources? Is it hastening the time when against all odds our ships shall carry the produce of our prairies to feed the world? Whose ships run with the least coal and most cargo, whose railway trains with the least power and repairs? Who is producing steel direct from the ores and from pig iron, not experimentally, but as an established branch of manufactures? Whose steam horses are regularly tilling the ground? Who is accumulating the most wealth with which to launch out these commercial armadas in the coming contest? These are important questions with reference to the commercial mastery of the sea and the land. If we cannot respond to them satisfactorily now, the time will surely come when we shall answer them with shame and sorrow.

And with what advantages has not Providence supplied us? Over an expanse of territory possessing every adaptation of soil and climate, whose valleys are full of metals, whose beds of coal underlie its hillsides and boundless prairies, whose lakes and rivers are the natural highway of its commerce, we have spread a union of States. Its people, the mixed and improved blood of all nations, are enterprising and vigorous, possessed of all the elements of success in the peaceful arts which are to define the true golden age of the world, unobstructed by the limits of space or by governmental restrictions, and by temperament, education and culture, eager for the strife and the mastery. And their successes in some departments are worthy of their high advantages. But why should England furnish us with the iron, of which better qualities underlie our own soil, and drive our ships from the ocean highway by its more economical vessels? Why should any other nation, in any particular, lead a people possessing these opportunities? In time of forming constitutions and alliances, in time of revolution and conquest, in time of international and political adjustments of State affairs, the uses of government are sufficiently evident. But what is our Government doing now? How is it adapting itself to the new necessities of the age? In time of peace and recovery from revulsions and renewed commercial activity, what is it doing? Fomenting political discord, unsettling the foundation of commercial confidence, neglecting the present interests of the times, exhuming and discussing dead issues, and instead of fostering the arts, developing the resources, rewarding the discoveries, encouraging the inventions, remedying the failures, and promoting the success of the principles and practice upon which we are to stand or fall in the coming contest, it knows not so much as their name.

It is all very well to leave shipbuilding to the shipwrights and machinists, and iron-making to the founders, and railways to the speculators, and agriculture to the farmers, and improvements to the inventors, and the whole to the inevitable supremacy of the spread eagle—perhaps it is beneath the dignity of that august body at Washington to bother with iron wheels and steam plows and cheap power. Here is the Patent-office and there are the capitalists—what more is required? Beautiful idea!—how can any other nation possibly compete with such advantages?

Our Government can in one of two ways be of service to the people in the present state of affairs. It can let the affairs severely and entirely alone, and cease to obstruct private enterprise by its unstable legislation, or it can positively and immensely aid the proposed improvements and successes with little risk of other evils—of party intrigue and jobberry. For instance, it can pay liberally for talent elected by the working engineers of the country, for testing the merits of the novelties offered to the public. The fact that a few hundreds of important matters are patented every year, may never be of value to the inventors or the public. Private capital may be unwilling to take risks in this or that invention, though if it could take them all it would multiply itself in the profits of the few really valuable inventions. To deny this is to say that no very valuable improvements are made. And Government could offer splendid prizes, sufficient to tempt and pay for the labors of the best competitors of all the world, for the best steam plows, the cheapest manufactures of iron, the best iron and steel, and the cheapest power. It cannot be denied that these results would further aid national prosperity than would any possible amount of conquest. If so, what more legitimate business can Government have than to bring forth these result? If these matters do not attract the serious attention of our legislators at this fair start of all the world for commercial prowess, it will be a most difficult and expensive matter to keep up with our rivals in years to come, if indeed we can compete with them at all.

What Constitutes a Gentleman?

We are not a little gratified to see that the Tribune has taken up this subject for discussion, and hence are not inclined to find fault with the text it has selected for its first dissertation. It seems that Mr. Longworth, of Cincinnati, has sent some baskets of his famous Catawba wine to our Minister at the Court of St. James for his private use, accompanying them with a liberal supply of samples, to be distributed by him to those who could appreciate it and aid in its circulation. This Mr. Dallas declines to do, saying that he "cannot reconcile the duties of the Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States with those of a commission merchant." Such a reply, the Tribune asserts, Mr. Lawrence when Minister at the same Court would never have made. On the contrary, "not only Mr. Lawrence, but Mrs. Lawrence and Mr. Bigelow Lawrence, and all attached to the Embassy, would have been more than happy to undertake the affair, which would have made quite a family piece of business." The editor accounts for this difference of the two men by the fact that, although the latter did not, in his youth, attend "for a single term a dancing school," and the former "was probably introduced to the mysteries of pigeon wing at a tender age," "Mr. George Dallas is not a gentleman, and Mr. Lawrence was one. The process by which he proves and illustrates this assertion, some might object to. But it must be remembered that in presenting an entirely new topic, the Tribune cannot be expected to escape some of the errors that a longer and more careful study would prevent. Its novel position would also naturally create some little embarrassment. This attempt, however, should not be discouraged, but on the contrary should be generously supported. The effort to be witty, however, is not so promising. It is true there may be something side-splitting in the stringing together of such words as "Prime Minister of his Highness the Duke of Kalbsbraten Pumpernickel, or of the Maid of Honor of Emillia Kunegunda Thomasina Chaaleria Emanuela Louisa Georgina, Princêss of Saxe-Pumpernickel," and a recondite satire, also, in "callipash and callipee,"—still we are inclined to think these are designed as pleasant little pieces of alliteration.

But there is one thing that surprises us, viz.: that the Tribune should have overlooked the economy in having our Ministers abroad pursuing the course he is so sure Mr. Lawrence, from the fact that he was a gentleman, would have pursued. This is the more singular, as the idea is shadowed forth in the declaration that Mr. Lawrence would have done all that was required of Mr. Dallas, and more too, "if by so doing he could have set a single idle spindle running at home." If our Ministers abroad would but act as agents to distribute samples of the wares of the various manufacturers of this country, we have no doubt thousands of idle spindles might be set running. Many can remember the cargo of Yankee clocks that was seized at Liverpool because they were supposed to be invoiced below their value in order to deceive the Government, and sold at auction, and how they fetched larger prices than the manufacturer had designed to ask for them. Now if our Minister had received a few samples of these clocks beforehand, and had distributed them around judiciously, with the tariff of prices affixed, this would never have occurred.

Let our manufacturers carry out by all means this idea of the Tribune. Let some samples of American watches, and a few American pianos, be dispatched forthwith. Mr. Day should forward some specimens of India-rubber cloth goods, and the inventors of new fire-arms, their pistols and rifles. A few caloric engines would be of great service to the holder of the patent in this country. In short, we do not see why, if it will set an "idle spindle running," that the houses of our foreign Ministers should not be miniature crystal palaces. Nor is this all in the way of economy. If our Ambassadors would act in this capacity, we have no doubt that the manufacturers would gladly club together and pay their entire salaries, thus relieving the Treasury from the drain upon it. We are quite sure that if the Tribune will devote more space to the discussion of the traits and characteristics of a gentleman, it will find the subject grow on its hands marvelously, and it will obtain views it never dreamed of before.

Another Sharp Dodge.

The Harlem Railroad Company, as all know, hold valuable franchises in this City for which the public have paid—but for which they have received no profit. The road have the entire monopoly of the Fourth-avenue, and have the right of way down to the Astor House, which they use to great benefit to themselves, at least. They are greedy for more, and take a very characteristic method of securing it. Very quietly last year they obtained the right to lay down another track through Madison-avenue, "whenever it should be opened." Very quietly they this year send men and money to Albany to have Madison-avenue opened; and by accident some owners of property hear of this, and at once send remonstrances to the gentlemen composing the Committee upon Cities and Villages in the Senate, to whom the proposed bill had been referred.

These three gentlemen are all called honorable men, and one of them is a respectable citizen of New-York. A large majority of the property-owners affected by the opening of Madison-avenue, from Forty-second-street to Seventy-ninth-street, remonstrate in the strongest terms:—they declare that the street is not needed for a thoroughfare; that it is asked by almost none but the Harlem Railroad Company; and that it is a gross and palpable seizure of private property for the benefit of a corporation already enriched at the expense of the City. But, in the face of these remonstrances, the Committee above named, whose Chairman is a resident of this City, without delay report unanimously in favor of the bill!

Let us see what they propose to do. They not only propose to give the Railroad Company (besides the Fourth-avenue, which they have,) the right to use Madison-avenue and such other streets for a rail-track, as are already opened, but they propose to change the map of the City for their benefit, against the remonstrances of a majority of the property interested. Do the Harlem Railroad Company propose to pay for the property taken, and for the cost of opening the street? Let us see what it amounts to. The mere property destroyed, and the expense of opening the street, will amount to about one million and a quarter of dollars, in addition to which are the grading, paving, sewering and lighting—an enormous sum. Who pays for this? The Harlem Railroad Company? By no means. It is to be paid for by the property through which the avenue runs, which is to be injured by this project, and which remonstrates against such a scheme of wholesale robbery.

If we did not know from observation how much more powerful is a great corporation, with plenty of money at command, than any number of private persons contending merely for the protection of their rights and interests, we should think it impossible that such a project as this could succeed.

Satisfactory Explanations.—The Herald is quite certain that the letters from our correspondents on the African Coast concerning the Slave-trade have been written for the purpose of creating a public excitement, and renewing the Slavery agitation just on the eve of the Presidential election. Having this view of the object of the letter, it naturally copies it into its own columns. Whatever looks like an attempt to renew "the nigger trade excitement" is promptly seized by this organ of the disunion agitators.

The Tribune, which published the letter as original a day after its appearance in the Times, says it was "much more interesting than the general run of our correspondence." This may serve as an excuse for reproducing it. We are glad that the Tribune's appreciation of the merit of our correspondence has undergone a sudden change,—for it will probably be tempted to draw upon it a little less freely for spicy personal sketches of members of Congress, and interesting incidents of Paris or London life. Its copious cribbings hitherto, if its present opinions are sincere, do little credit to its taste.

NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

FRIGHTFUL STEAMBOAT CASUALTY.

Explosion of a Boiler on the Delaware.

Ten Persons Killed—Fourteen Severely Injured.

Easton, Penn., Tuesday, March 6—P. M.

This morning the shores of the Delaware River, below the bridge here, were crowded with persons to witness the Alfred Thomas, a little steamer which has been built at this place to run between Belvidere and Port Jervis.

At 11 o'clock the steamer started, and made her way up the river against a swift current, having on board about a hundred men. At the bridge she stopped, when a number got off, leaving about forty persons on board. The steamer then continued her trip up the river, and, on arriving at the Falls, a short distance above the bridge, she was moored for a short time. When all was ready to start again, the boiler exploded with a terrible crash, the pieces flying in every direction, and the boat becoming in an instant a complete wreck. Some of the passengers were thrown fifty feet into the air; others were blown off into the water and slightly injured, and others were dreadfully mangled. The sight upon the land was truly heartrendering. The torn limbs of the poor sufferers, and the presence of those who were in search of friends supposed to be among the dead, formed a sight to make the stoutest heart sad. The physicians of the borough hastened to the assistance of the sufferers, and did all in their power to alleviate their sufferings.

The following is a list of the killed and wounded, which is believed to be full and correct.

KILLED.

Samuel Yates, of Easton.
Gaston Smith, of Easton.
Joseph Weaver, of Easton.
Richard Holcomb, of Belvidere.
J. Shaeff, (engineer,) of Easton.
George Shaeff, of Easton.
Edward McIntyre, (colored,) of Easton.
Stewart Beatty, of Easton.
Arthur Kessler, of Easton.
Wm. Sharp, Jr., of Belvidere.

WOUNDED.

Eugene Troxell, of Easton, injured about the head and legs slightly.
Wm. Diehl, of Easton, slightly.
John Smith, of Belvidere, badly; will hardly recover.
Sol. McIntyre, (colored,) of Easton, slightly.
Joseph Losey, of Washington, N. J., slightly.
Val. Scholey, of Easton, slightly.
Andrew Melleck, of Belvidere, slightly.
Wm. Parks, of Easton, arm broken.
Benjamin Yonells, of Easton, leg broken in two places, and otherwise injured.
Henry Medler, of Easton, slightly.
Richard Williams, of Easton, slightly.
Robert Burrell, of Easton, slightly.
P. Bercaw, of Easton, leg broken.
An unknown man from Belvidere, badly.

The scene on shore after the explosion, it is altogether impossible to describe. Women, who were fearful that their relations were on board, ran up and down almost distracted, questioning almost every one they met in regard to the dreadful affair.

Municipal Elections.

Auburn, Tuesday, March 6.

Morgan, the Republican candidate for Mayor, has a majority over Henry, the Democratic candidate, of four hundred. The entire Republican city ticket has been elected, with the exception of the Overseer of the Poor.

Troy, Tuesday, March 6.

Isaac McKonihe, Jr., Democrat, was to-day elected Mayor of this city by about three hundred majority. The Democrats have a majority of the City Council.

Utica, Tuesday, March 6.

Calvin Hall, Republican, is elected Mayor of Utica by 78 majority. The Democrats elect the rest of the City ticket. The Republicans elect a majority of the Supervisors, but the Democrats a majority of the Aldermen.

Rochester, Tuesday, March 6.

Hamlet D. Scramton, Republican, is elected Mayor by about 150 majority. The Republicans also carry five or six Aldermen, which gives them the Common Council.

Alexandria, Va., Tuesday, March 6.

The entire American ticket was elected at the local election to-day.

Chicago, Tuesday, March 6.

The Municipal election to-day passed off without any disturbance of consequence. The vote polled was large, and probably reaches 18,000. The returns received indicate the election of the entire Republican ticket by from 600 to 700 majority.

Geneva, N. Y., Monday, March 5.

At our Charter Election to-day, the Democrats elected their whole ticket, excepting three, by a majority of 150. Three Republicans were elected by 13 majority.

Democratic Convention of Louisiana.

THE CHARLESTON DELEGATES TO SUSTAIN SLIDELL.

Baton Rouge, Tuesday, March 6.

The Democratic Convention met and organized. Resolutions were offered instructing the Delegates to Charleston to support the nominee of that Convention, if he were a good Democrat. A resolution was offered to sustain Mr. Davis' Territorial Resolutions at Charleston, and if the principle is rejected, the delegates should withdraw.

The latter was not adopted.

A series of resolutions was adopted, expressing admiration of the patriotic conservative Northern men, and undiminished confidence in Mr. Buchanan's Administration; embodying the principles of Mr. Davis' Territorial resolutions; recommending the adoption by the Convention of the two-thirds rule, and that the vote of the Louisiana delegation be cast as a unit; and that in case of the election of a Black Republican President, Louisiana should meet her sister slaveholding States in council, for the adoption of measures for their protection. The delegates are entirely untrammeled by instructions, but Mr. Slidell is recommended for the Presidency, though the Convention pledges the Democracy of the State to support the nominee of the Charleston Convention, whoever he may be. [illegible] were appointed delegates at large, and the Convention adjourned.

Interesting Case in Pennsylvania.

THE ALLEGHENY (PENN.) COUNTY COMMISSIONERS BEFORE THE SUPREME COURT FOR CONTEMPT—THEY ARE FINED AND IMPRISONED.

Philadelphia, Tuesday, March 6.

In the Supreme Court this afternoon, the three Commissioners of Alleghany County—John S. McIlhenney, Zaccheus Patterson and Jonathan [illegible]—were presented in custody of the Sheriff of Alleghany County. They were severally interrogated whether they stood by the return made by them to a writ of mandamus, refusing to obey the order of the Court. Each answered that he stood by the return. Judge Lowrie informed them that they had been heard by counsel, and that the Court adjudged each guilty of contempt in refusing obedience to the mandamus. The Judge inquired what disposition the plaintiffs asked. Wm. M. Meredith, on their behalf, replied that they left the matter in the hands of the Court.

After consulting, Judge Lowrie, for the Court, stated that they had no power, under the act of the Assembly, to go any further in enforcement of the writ, excepting by punishing these men for the offense already committed in contempt of court which was limited to a fine. An act of the Legislature which prohibits the Court from enforcing an order in the ordinary manner has struck down the process of the Court. A refusal to obey an injunction is punishable by imprisonment until the parties agree to obey the order of the Court, but the power of the Court here, in a case which is purely criminal, is limited to a fine. The Commissioners were ordered to stand up. After some remarks upon the enormity of their offence, and the folly of their course in placing themselves at the head of a rebellion, the Court imposed upon each a fine of $1,000, with the costs of the attachment, and they were ordered into the custody of the Sheriff until paid.

Immediately after the passage of the sentence Mr. Meredith applied for an alias peremptory mandamus. The motion was then entered, and a refusal to obey the writ if it is granted will render the defendants liable to another fine.

The Hungarian.

NAMES OF OTHER PASSENGERS SUPPOSED TO HAVE BEEN ON BOARD—SALE OF THE GOODS RECOVERED.

Toronto, C. W., Tuesday, March 6.

Letters received here yesterday render it certain that Marcus Talbot, member of the Provincial Parliament for Middlesex, C. W., and his bride, were passengers in the Hungarian.

Portland, Tuesday, March 6.

The goods saved from the Hungarian and the wreck are to be sold at Barrington on the 14th March.

Matters in Maryland.

REMOVAL OF JUDGE STUMP—RAILROAD LOAN—ANOTHER MURDER.

Baltimore, Tuesday, March 6.

The Maryland House last evening, by a vote of 55 to 5, adopted an address requesting the Governor to remove from office Judge Stump, of the Criminal Court of this city. The case comes up in the Senate to-day.

The Senate last evening passed a bill empowering the City Council of Baltimore to indorse half a million dollars of bonds of the Northern Central Railroad.

The drivers of two city passenger-cars had a fracas at a ball last night. One of them, named Bosley, was fatally shot.

New-Jersey Railroads.

FATE OF BILLS BEFORE THE LEGISLATURE.

Trenton, Tuesday, March 6.

To-day the Hunterdon and Millstone Railroad bill was recommitted in the House after a contest.

The Burlington and Middlesex Railroad bill was defeated by 28 to 28.

The Joint Railroad and Canal Company have sent in a memorial, alleging that the Princeton and Trenton Railroad bill, which passed the House, is an infringement of their exclusive rights and a violation of the State faith.

European Steamers.

Resumption of Navigation on the Hudson.—The steamer South America, which left New-York last evening, reached Hudson at 6 o'clock this morning, and after taking in coal resumed her trip, reaching this city about noon. The Captain of the South America reports a considerable quantity of heavy floating ice below, but none of moment above Hudson. The South America will leave this afternoon at 5 o'clock for New-York. The schooner David Anderson, laden with lumber, which became ice-bound here last Fall, left for New-York at noon. The propeller Western World leaves for New-York this evening. Steamer Isaac Newton will leave New-York this evening, in company with the Hendrick Hudson and Knickerbocker. She will return to-morrow night. A tow is expected to leave New-York to-morrow evening. There is no ice in the river in front of this city, and that encountered by the South America below will not materially interfere with the running of boats, so that it can safely be asserted that river navigation for 1860 has fairly opened.—Albany Evening Journal, March 6.

On Saturday, the floor of the second story of the store on Fish Island, New-Bedford, gave way under the pressure of some eight or nine thousand bushels of wheat, and the side next to the river bulging out, the wheat ran into the water. About 3,000 bushels were saved in good order, and the remainder was recovered in a damaged condition.

American Citizens in Cuba.

THE CASE OF GAVINO DE LIANO AT HAVANA.

Correspondence of the New-Orleans Delta.

HAVANA, Friday, Feb. 24, 1860.

The time approaches when Spain and the United States will have to determine the question of the natural and political rights of the subjects or citizens of either, who have become naturalized under the laws of the other. The case of GAVINO DE LIANO is an example of the necessity of coming to some conclusion on this point. I have endeavored to obtain the facts of this case from the correspondence between U. S. Consul-General HELM and the Captain-General of Cuba, but without effect. However, I have learned enough to justify me in saying that the Consul-General has represented the following facts:

That LIANO, born a Spanish subject, has been naturalized in the United States, from the age of nine years, and that his parents were likewise naturalized citizens of the United States.

That he therefore owes to Spain no allegiance whatever, except the obligations due from all persons residing temporarily in the country—obedience to the laws of the land.

That the attempt to enforce upon LIANO the Spanish conscript system, by exacting military service to the crown of Spain, or an equivalent for a substitute, in a certain sum of money, would not be recognized by the American Government; and he requests that the restraint placed upon the person of LIANO be removed, and that his assumed obligation to provide a substitute be canceled, or any money paid by him for such purpose refunded.

To the application of Consul-General HELM, Gen. SERRANO replies by asserting the doctrine that Spain does not release her born subjects who go abroad and become naturalized citizens of other countries, from the obligation of military service or its equivalent; that without the consent of the Government of Spain no born subject of the realm can be exempt by reason of foreign residence, or the acquisition of new rights of citizenship in other countries, from the natural obligations due by the children of Spain to their mother country, and therefore the case of LIANO cannot be modified by the release of his person, by the canceling of his bonds, or by the remission of moneys paid or to be paid for a substitute.

To this Consul-General HELM has replied with a remonstrance, at once firm and respectful, taking the ground that his Government would not submit to such a construction of the natural and acquired rights of her citizens.

Since the discussion of this case was closed, we have received, by the Isabel on the 22d, the letter of Gen. CASS to Mr. PUGH, of Ohio, in which he fully sustains, though in another case, the whole doctrine as asserted by Consul-General HELM. Of one thing the people of the United States may be assured, that our Consul-General will protect the rights of all citizens of the United States, as far as his power reaches; that in his hands the national dignity and honor cannot be sullied with impunity; and that, if he be not sustained by his Government, (of which, however, we believe there is no danger,) in the position he has assumed, he will resign his office, and return home.

From Havana.

RECEPTION OF THE NEWS OF THE CAPTURE OF TETUAN—VISITORS AT HAVANA—HEALTH OF THE CITY.

The steamship Cahawba arrived yesterday morning from New-Orleans and Havana, having left the latter port on the 1st inst. She brings, on freight, $100,000 in Mexican silver from New-Orleans.

The Cahawba carried the news to Havana of the taking of Tetuan, which caused great excitement and rejoicing. At noon a salute was fired from all the forts and vessels of war in the harbor. A grand parade, reception at the palace, and other ceremonies, in honor of the Spanish victory, were to take place in a day or two. Nothing of further importance to notice from the Island of Cuba.

The United States steamer Mohawk, Capt. CRAVEN, was at Matanzas, and the United States steamer Crusader, Capt. MOFFIT, at Sagua la Grande—all well on board both vessels.

Mr. JOHN E. EVERETT, of New-York, died of consumption at Havana on the 29th ult.

Many visitors from the United States yet remain in Havana, the city being considered perfectly healthy.

The Havana Price Current of the latest date says: "Since the last report the transactions have been limited—Nos 11 and 12, 9¼ reals ₩ arobe; 13 and 14, 10@10¼ ₩ arobe. The weather had again been unfavorable, causing further interruptions to the progress of the crops. Stock on hand estimated at 90,000 boxes at Havana and Matanzas, against 140,000 same time in 1859. FREIGHTS—No alteration to notice.

EXCHANGE—On London 60 days', 13@13¼ premium; on New-York, 2½@3 premium; on New-Orleans, 4 @5 premium.

Later from Brownsville.

POSITION OF THE RANGERS—MOVEMENTS OF CORTINAS.

Advices from Brownsville to the 22d ult., state that the Rangers, under Captains FORD and LITTLETON, remain at the Rancho Rosario. Capt. STONEMAN'S company is at the Rancho los Lucias.

CORTINAS is at the Macer, ten miles from FORD'S camp, on the American side of the river, and has about sixty men with him.

Some of the Rancheros along the river have resumed planting, in hopes that there would be no further demonstrations against them.

The Washington Star has the following:

Private information from Austin, Texas, in which we confide, inclines us greatly to the belief that ere the end of two months Gen. SAM HOUSTON will precipitate himself at the head of perhaps a thousand frontier-men upon the State of Tamaulipas, Mexico, to the end of exterminating the band of CORTINAS, now virtually protected from American vengeance by the Mexican authorities. The fact that after his recent career on American soil CORTINAS parades the streets of Matamoras, cheek by jowl with the authorities, proves that he was aided and abetted by them; and, in the present state of Mexico, demands that sort of punishment which HOUSTON well knows how to accord. The recently published messages or dispatches from HOUSTON to the Government here, tell of the temper and purposes with reference to CORTINAS now actuating the Texans, who, under such a leader as HOUSTON, will surely pay him and the Mexicans back with interest doubly compounded for the Brownsville outrages.

The Massachusetts Strike.

THE STRIKE RAPIDLY EXTENDING—PACIFIC DEMONSTRATIONS—SYMPATHY FROM PHILADELPHIA.

BOSTON, Tuesday, March 6.

The shoemakers' strike is rapidly extending to all the principal manufacturing towns in the State. The latest demonstrations are at Newburyport, North Bridgewater, Salem and Sutton. The strikers are orderly and peaceful.

PHILADELPHIA SYMPATHIZING WITH LYNN.

From the Philadelphia Ledger.

The journeymen shoemakers of Philadelphia held a public meeting on Monday to express their sympathy with the Massachusetts strikers. Mr. WM. H. HARTMAN presided, and 200 workmen were present. A preamble and resolutions were read and adopted, expressing gratification at the stand taken by the cordwainers of New-England, and tendering to them the warmest sympathy of the cordwainers of Philadelphia for their success in the struggle. Mr. ISAAC J. NEAL, President of the Moulders' National Union, made an address, declaiming against the oppression of the laborer by the capitalist.

Mr. WM. BAKER, who stated that he did not belong to the craft, made a practical speech, recommending the contribution of "material aid" to the strikers in New-England. He recommended to the meeting, not to make war upon capital, but to combine together, save their money, and become capitalists. He extolled labor-saving machinery as one of the greatest blessings to mankind. He also observed that those who were most rabid in talking about the tyranny of the employers, sometimes become employers themselves, and as soon as prosperity smiled upon them, they would be the most exacting and tyrannical to their workmen, like the Abolitionist of the North, who, put as overseer on a Southern plantation, becomes the most cruel of task-masters. After taking up a contribution for the New-England strikers, and the "halves" and "quarters" coming in pretty freely, the meeting adjourned.

A correspondent of the Boston Journal, writing from Concord, N. H., states that New-Hampshire now seems to be an active political field, being the first State which holds its annual election for 1860. The Republican Party is thoroughly and systematically organized, and have many speakers already in the field, mostly citizens of the State, there being but one or two from abroad. Several excellent meetings have already been held, which have had good results.

Great Fire in Detroit, Michigan.

DETROIT, Dec. 28, 1859.

B. VERNOR, AGENT FOR HERRING'S PATENT CHAMPION SAFE—Dear Sir: We take great pleasure in informing you that one of your No. 5 Safes, owned by us, preserved its contents most effectually, and greatly to our satisfaction and that of the admiring crowd, who witnessed its disinterment from the ruins of the four-story brick store, occupied by us as a grocery, and which was burned last night. The Safe fell into the cellar, and the timbers of all the floors fell and burned upon it, together with a ton of butter, and after being exposed to this great test for nine hours, we opened it with perfect ease with the key. We most cheerfully recommend the HERRING CHAMPION SAFE to any person in want of an article that is what it claims to be—A SAFE.

MILLER & JUDD.

STILL LATER.

GRAND RAPIDS, Feb. 17, 1860.

MESSRS S. C. HERRING & CO.—Gents: We had one of your No. 5 Safes in our law-office in the second story of the four-story brick building, known as the Taylor & Barnes Block in this City, which was destroyed by fire on the evening of the 23d of January, involving a loss of over $100,000.

The Safe contained a large amount of valuable papers, our own, and held in trust for others, involving a sum of at least $100,000, and fell into the cellar, where it lay in the midst of burning liquors, alcohol, and other inflammable substances, causing a most intense heat, notwithstanding all of which, we are happy to say it preserved its contents, thereby saving us an irreparable loss. We have this day bought another one, larger size, from your general agent for Michigan, B. Vernor, and cheerfully recommend the HERRING CHAMPION SAFE to every one.

TO THE SENATE AND ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF NEW-YORK.

We, the undersigned, citizens of New-York, beg leave respectfully to represent to your honorable bodies, that we are the owners of a majority of the property lying between the 4th and 5th avs. and 42d and 79th sts. in said City.

We have observed that a bill has been introduced into the Assembly, the purpose of which is to open a public place or street seventy-five feet wide, up to 79th-st. parallel to the 4th and 5th avs., which public place or street would affect the property we represent: We respectfully ask of your honorable bodies that you will not by the passage of any bill authorize the extension or opening of the proposed public place or street, and for these, among other important reasons, viz.:

1. An enormous number of lots in this district of the City of New-York has already been withdrawn from the uses of its inhabitants by the opening of the Central Park, for which public place the property we represent has already been heavily assessed.

2. The opening of this additional public place within about four hundred feet of the eastern side of the Central Park, would withdraw a further number of lots from use.

3. It would cause a great expense to the tax-payers of this City without any corresponding benefit.

4. It is not asked, so far as we can learn, by any large number of influential citizens.

5. It is not needed for a thoroughfare, because on the east parallel with street runs the 4th-av., which has been widened to one hundred and forty feet, while on the west is the 5th-av., and in addition the whole width of the Central Park.

6. It would lay additional burdens upon the property of this section, to which the owners are unanimously opposed, and which this property, already so heavily assessed for the Central Park, for the widening of the 4th-av., &c., &c., should not be exposed to.

7. As it would confer no real benefit, but a large expense, it would tend, if carried into effect, to still further weaken the confidence of our citizens and capitalists in the real estate of this City, already much impaired by unexpected and unnecessary burdens, imposed by legal authorities.

Finally, it would neither conduce to the beauty, the health, the convenience, nor the prosperity of the City.

For these and other reasons the undersigned respectfully ask that your honorable bodies will withhold your consent from the bill proposed.

THE NEW AMERICAN CYCLOPÆDIA.
From De Bow's Review, New-Orleans.
This great work, published by the Appletons, of New-York, has reached its eighth volume. It is one of the most valuable Cyclopædias in the world, and for Americans the most valuable. It is contributed to by many of the ablest and best writers of the South, and is as fair to every section of the Union as it is possible for a work to be. It will be completed in about seven other volumes.
PRICE—In cloth, $3; sheep, $3 50; half morocco, $4; half Russia, $4 50 each.
THE NEW AMERICAN CYCLOPÆDIA
Is sold exclusively by subscription, and Agents have been appointed for almost all sections of the Union. In case, however, Agents are not to be found, we will receive subscriptions, and forward copies of the work, free of expense, on receipt of the price. Persons at a distance may send money for one or more volumes at a time, it not being necessary to take the whole eight volumes at once, unless they feel inclined to do so. Those living in the City will find a subscription book at our store, where their names will be entered, and the volumes, as published, sent to any part of the City.

OPINIONS OF THE PEOPLE.

FROM VIRDEN, ILLINOIS.

I feel it is THE paper of all others, that is to be the backbone to sustain the cause of liberty, justice and humanity; to set forth the divine law in such a manner as to enforce a moral principle upon the legislation of our country, that shall finally triumph in Universal Liberty.

FROM ELYRIA, OHIO.

I cannot do without your invaluable paper. I wish it could be read by every family in the land.

FROM ANAMOSA, IOWA.

Mr. Beecher's sermons alone are worth four times the subscription price. I cut out and carefully paste each sermon on a sheet of foolscap. We have one sermon on the Sabbath three weeks in the month; at a meeting called for the purpose we resolved to have one of Mr. Beecher's sermons read every Sabbath evening.

FROM BANGOR, MAINE.

Were yours an ordinary sheet, I should hardly take the trouble to write and ask for another copy of the 16th Feb. But I can ill afford to lose any one number of a journal embodying so much truth spoken in love and boldness.

FROM NEW-BRUNSWICK, NEW-JERSEY.

"Inclosed you will find two dollars; money well spent. The Tribune and Independent are worth almost any amount you may be pleased to mention, in my family."

FROM WATERBURY, CONN.

"Truly your combination of talent is no momentary bid for popular favor, but rather combines to establish in its condensed and richly freighted pages the greatest good to the greatest number, in moral and spiritual influence."

FROM AUBURNDALE, MASS.

"I have taken your paper from its commencement, and intend to take it until I die, which I hope will be a thousand years before its death."

The above are some of the honest opinions of the people in reference to

THE INDEPENDENT.

Terms, by mail, two dollars a year; by carrier, two dollars and a half.

W. A. TOWNSEND & COMPANY
WILL PUBLISH
THURSDAY, March 15,
AGAINST WIND AND TIDE.
BY HOLME LEE,
Author of "Kathie Brande," "Sylvan Holt's Daughter," &c., &c.
One large 12mo vol., 440 pages, cloth. Price $1.
From the London Literary Gazette, Dec. 17, 1859.
The new publishing season has commenced auspiciously; and the novel now before us is, by many degrees, the best specimen of Fiction that has been placed in our hands. With much of the terseness and vigor of "ADAM BEDE," it has a refinement which we do not find in that very clever work, and a combined knowledge of the world and insight into character which render the tale startlingly real and life like. The plot unravels itself in a masterly manner, and there are delicious little bits of prose and poetry scattered through the pages which make our breath come quicker and our pulses throb. * * * We more than sincerely—we critically—recommend to each and all, the admirably constructed and gracefully written tale—"AGAINST WIND AND TIDE."
From the London Athenæum, Dec. 10, 1859.
We prefer this novel to any of the author's previous ones—it bears marks of more matured talent. The story is interesting, and the characters well designed. * * * * We have met with few things superior to the account of Margaret Hawthorne sitting on the fallen tree, in the dim twilight, praying to be delivered from evil and kept from temptation, knowing that the man who had cruelly and dishonorably wronged her—by an illegal marriage—had come back, and was, as she believed, seeking her presence; but not knowing that he had returned a free man, with the design of "atoning for past wrong and winning present happiness by marrying her truly." * * * There is no strong coloring, very few epithets; the incidents are indicated and shadowed out rather than detailed—but they are true to the life, and death: the reader is touched with a pity deeper than words or tears can speak it.
ALSO, AT THE SAME TIME:
LIFE BEFORE HIM.
A NEW AMERICAN NOVEL.
One vol., 12mo, 400 pages, neat cloth. Price $1.
A story full of animation and spirit; fresh and sparkling in style and treatment. Its faithful delineations of the struggles of youth with poverty and low fortune will awaken the interest and secure the sympathy of every reader.
From the Press, Philadelphia.
Townsend & Co. will issue, in a few weeks, a new American novel, said, by those who have seen the proofs, to possess unusual ability, originality and interest. The title—"Life Before Him"—is indicative of a pretty broad field on which to marshal the characters. The author's name is for the present withheld, the publishers thinking that if the public are sufficiently pleased to call the writer before the curtain after the play, the surprise will be more agreeable than if "announced in the bills."

SOUTH AND NORTH; OR,
IMPRESSIONS RECEIVED DURING A TRIP TO CUBA AND THE SOUTH.
BY
JOHN S. C. ABBOTT.
1 vol. 12mo. 352 pages. Price $1.
VOICE OF THE PRESS.
THE VERY BEST BOOK ON SLAVERY YET ISSUED, sound, judicious, kind, Christian, and most timely and faithful. * * * The author rehearses in a graphic way the measures of violence which "SOUTHERN AGGRESSION" has of late so systematically pursued, and while condemning the crazy zeal of John Brown, he shows that his heroic self-denial for the oppressed puts to shame the coward fury of the South for oppression. Yet the tone of the book, while candid, frank and manly, is always kind and gentlemanly; NOT SECTIONAL BUT FRATERNAL, not partisan but Christian. He points the South to the simple remedy for existing evils in substituting wages for the lash, free labor for coerced toil. The book should have a wide circulation.—From Editorial in New-York Independent.
Its animated descriptions, and the frankness and cordiality of its tone, are adapted to give it a favorable reception, even with readers who differ most widely from him in opinion. * * * The topics to which this volume is devoted, and the spirit in which they are discussed, though they may arouse a tempest of opposition from those who regard silence as the only guarantee of safety, will secure it a WIDE CIRCULATION AMONG THE FRIENDS OF FREEDOM throughout the country.—New-York Tribune.

TRIUMPH COMPLETE!
Why is it that the Ex-Governor of Maryland, also the President of one of the Banks at Frederick City, urged the doctors there to procure it? Why has a large cash order this week come from such men as Messrs. Peel & Stevens, wholesale Druggists at Alexandria, Va.; and by the very next mail, an order (the third time in four weeks) from Mr. Pierpont, and from Messrs. Cook & Co., of same place; and by the very same mail a fourth order from Messrs. Hopper & Wilmer, of Centreville, Md., where, a short time since, such an excitement sprung up from some remarkable cures made there by Pros. Chas. De Grath's Electric Oil? How is it that the editor of the Erie Observer was cured in two days of Rheumatism in his back of three years' duration? and Mr. Brady, of Harrisburgh, of Paralysis? Why and how was it that the other day Mr. George Weis, No. 237 Eager-st., Baltimore, was cured of palsied hands of long standing? Ask them. Why do such men as Messrs. G. N. & W. H. Williams, wholesale Druggists at Syracuse, N. Y., write, Aug. 30, that "Your Electric Oil proves more beneficial than any other preparation we have ever heard of?"
This Oil is for sale by BARNES & PARK, Nos. 13 and 15 Park row, and all Druggists and dealers. Dépôt Philadelphia, Penn. Price 25 cents, 50 cents and $1 per bottle. Sizes enlarged.

VERY DESIRABLE BUILDING LOTS.

FOR PRIVATE RESIDENCES, IN BROOKLYN.

The subscriber offers for sale:
25 lots of land fronting on Lafayette-av.
30 lots of land fronting on Greene-av.
16 lots of land fronting on Gates-av.
30 lots of land fronting on Houston-av., or Hall-st.
40 lots of land fronting on Prescott place.

All the above lots are in the immediate vicinity of the churches and best improvements on Clinton and Washington avs., and Fulton av. Railroad.

Also, 40 lots on Washington and Park avs.

The streets and avenues are all 70 feet, graded and paved, affording the advantages of city and country combined; one and a half miles distant from the ferries, easily accessible by the city railroads. A low rate of taxation and railroad fare, and the introduction of water of unequaled purity renders Brooklyn one of the most desirable residences in the land.

The whole of the purchase money may remain on bond and mortgage, where good improvements are made. The lots will be sold under restrictions as to the character of improvements, and afford an opportunity for gentlemen to secure, at moderate expense, desirable residences in one of the most eligible and healthy locations to be obtained.

For maps and further information, apply to FISHER HOWE, No. 160 Front-st., New York.

COUNTRY RESIDENCES.

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE—A FINE COUNtry seat in the village of Geneva, pleasantly situated on the western bank of Seneca Lake. The house stands on a plot of 4 acres, having a front of 400 feet on Main-st., and comprising a fine lawn tastefully laid out, abundantly supplied with ornamental trees and shrubbery, and partly inclosed by hawthorn hedges, a sloping bank shaded with sycamore, oak, hickory, and other forest trees, terminating in a gravel beach, an orchard of choice fruit trees, and a culinary garden in a high state of cultivation, well stocked with currant, raspberry and gooseberry bushes. The house, which is a frame building, filled in with brick, has a front of 75 feet, including wing depth, 40 feet. The parlors are furnished with marble mantels, and grates of modern pattern; gas fixtures through the house, with gas supplied from the village. The carriage house stables, and other outbuildings are all commodious and well built. Attached to this property, and immediately opposite, are 17 acres of tillable land producing every variety of crops. The lake abounds with fine fish, including salmon trout, Oswego bass, pike, perch, &c., and offers unsurpassed facilities for boating and bathing. The attractions for which Geneva is noted have induced many retired New-York merchants to choose this village as a place of residence. Hobart Free College and the public and private schools, have well established reputations. The churches include the Reformed Dutch, Episcopal, Presbyterian, Methodist, Baptist, and other denominations. The Rochester and Syracuse Railroad connects this village with the New-York Central Railroad. Time from New-York, 13 hours. The place would be exchanged for suitable property in the vicinity of this City. For further particulars, inquire of ADRIAN H. MULLER, No. 35 Wall-st., or WM. N. CLARK, Jr., No. 170 William st.

DR. WATSON TREATS ALL FORMS OF a certain class of disease with a success which has won for him the confidence of the public. The remedies are safe, and cause no interruption from business. Dr. WATSON'S work—"The Cause and Cure"—has been pronounced by the reviewers the best popular compendium on all diseases of a private nature including spermatorrhœa and debility, the results of early abuse, excess or other causes. "Should be read by all persons previous to marriage."—Medical Gazette. Fine colored plates. Price $1. To be had of CHARLES MILLER, No. 436 Broadway, New-York, and of the author, at his private residence, No 459 Broome-st., second block west of Broadway, from 8 A. M. to 9 P. M. Separate consulting rooms.

I SENT THE LAST FIVE DOLLARS I POSsessed in the world to a newspaper "philanthropist" of Charlestown, Mass., to "know how he was cured," and was swindled. Avoid such, and learn of a sufferer who has been effectually cured of nervous debility, loss of memory, dimness of sight, resulting from early errors, by following the instructions given in a medical work, and who considers it his duty, in gratitude to the author, to publish and circulate 20,000 gratuitously. He will, therefore, send free, to any address on receipt of two stamps, a copy containing every information required. Address Box No. 579 Post-office, Albany, N. Y.

IMPORTANT TO THE MARRIED—AND THOSE ABOUT TO BE MARRIED.—Dr. A. M. MAURICEAU, Professor of Diseases of Women, has just published the 160th edition of his valuable book, entitled "THE MARRIED WOMAN'S PRIVATE MEDICAL COMPANION," strictly intended for those whose health or circumstances forbid a too rapid increase of family. Price $1. Sold at his office, No. 129 Liberty-st., New-York; or can be sent by mail, free of postage, to any part of the United States and Canada, by inclosing $1, and addressing Box No. 1,224, New-York City. Pamphlets, fully explaining the contents of the book, free.

DR. WARD, NO. 483 BROADWAY, PERforms the only permanent and satisfactory cure of private diseases. Remember, all afflicted, that by consulting Dr. WARD you will immediately experience that Richard's himself again. Cure guaranteed, and medicines provided for $1. Female diseases successfully treated. His Monthly Pills, $1 per box, never fail of effect intended. Try them, all ladies. Office No. 483 Broadway, next Wallack's Theatre, up stairs; arranged that patients never meet. Consultation gratis. Attendance till 10 P. M.

DR. WARD, NO. 483 BROADWAY, IS A regularly-educated physician, wholly devoted to the speciality of private and female diseases. His remedies are prepared from a life spent in the great hospitals of Europe, and a more extended practice than any other living physician. Dr. WARD alone can restore you sound. Consult him at No 483 Broadway. He charges moderate, and tenders advice free. In female diseases he is a skilled physician and adviser, and warrants relief in all cases. Hundreds of ladies are monthly cured by his efficacious and infallible treatment.

"MEDICAL COMMON SENSE."—DR. E. B. FOOTE, the author of this popular book, returns to his resident office at Saratoga Springs the 1st of May. Let no one who has a difficult disease of long standing fail to consult him at once. Thousands of supposed incurable cases have been cured by his medicines and electricity. He gives no minerals. He is effecting miraculous cures in this City by his common sense practice. Winter Office No. 546 Broadway, (next door to Dusseldorf Gallery,) New York. Consultation free. Office hours from 1 to 6 P. M. Invalids at a distance can consult him by letter. His Book will be sent by mail, postage paid, to those who remit $1. Address as above.

DR. R. COBBETT MAY BE CONSULTED with confidence on all diseases requiring secrecy. From a long and extended practice of over 27 years in the above specialty, and at his present location, he can safely promise to all who may stand in need of medical or surgical assistance a radical cure, no matter of how long standing. The victims of misplaced confidence, or those who may have been unfortunate in the selection of a physician, are particularly invited to call. N. B.—Dr. C. is a member of the New-York University Medical College and College of Surgeons, London. See his diploma in his office, No. 19 Duane-st., opposite Chambers.

THE CONFESSIONS AND EXPERIENCE OF A VICTIM.—Designed for the benefit and as a warning and a caution to young men who suffer from nervous debility, premature decay, &c.; supplying, at the same time, the means of self-cure, by one who has cured himself, after having been put to great expense through medical imposition and quackery. Single copies may be had of the author, NATHANIEL MAYFAIR, Esq., Bedford, Kings County, N. Y., by enclosing a post-paid, addressed, envelope.

AN ACT OF GRATITUDE, 20,000 COPIES, &c.—Headed as above, an Albany quack copies, verbatim, and inserts as his own the advertisement of a London charlatan, (see Shipping and Mercantile Gazette.) Sufferers from nervous debility, or spermatorrhœa, &c., before commencing ANY treatment, inclose one stamp to me, and learn the TRUTH, which "shall make you free" indeed. Truly your friend, WM. J. C. ADAMS, Box No. 176, Charlestown, Mass.

IMPORTANT TO FEMALES.—DISEASES OF females exclusively treated by Dr. THIERS. Remedies for female derangements from $1 to $5. Relief guaranteed in all cases. Consultation and letters strictly confidential. Patients from a distance provided with board, nursing and exclusive attendance. Advice gratis. Send stamp for circular, and escape quackery. Address No. 98 West 24th-st., New-York.

DR. COOPER, NO 14 DUANE-STREET, may be consulted on all diseases of a private nature. 28 years exclusively devoted to the treatment of secret diseases enables him to warrant a cure in all cases undertaken. The victims of misplaced confidence who have been misled by quack advertisements, can call on Dr. C. with the certainty of being radically cured or no charge.

HUNDREDS OF THE UNFORTUNATE are disappointed of a cure by not calling on DR. HUNTER at first. The Hunterian Dispensary, No. 3 Division st., New-York City, established in 1834 for the Preservation of Human Life. PRIVATE CONSULTATION.—Dr. Hunter has for thirty years confined his attention to diseases of a certain class, in which he has treated no less than fifty thousand cases, without an instance of failure. His great remedy, HUNTER'S RED DROP, cures certain diseases when regular treatment and all other remedies fail; cures without dieting or restriction in the habits of the patient; cures without the disgusting and sickening effects of all other remedies; cures in new cases in less than six hours. It roots out the poisonous taint the blood is sure to absorb, unless this remedy is used. It is $1 a vial, and cannot be obtained genuine anywhere but at the old office, No. 3 Division-st. Book for nothing that treats of the evil effects of early abuse and indulgence, is embellished with elaborate colored engravings, portraying every feature and phase of disease, exposes the fallacy of the ordinary modes adopted for the cure of local as well as hereditary maladies, and gives the only safe and infallible remedy for expunging every trace of the virus from the system.

MUSICAL.

THE OVAL PIANO-FORTE,
(With the over-strung base,)
The most graceful in form, and the best-toned horizontal piano in the world.
The Driggs Piano Company, by greatly extending their facilities of manufacture and improvement in their machinery, are prepared to receive advance orders for these graceful and elegant instruments. The demand has heretofore been far beyond our ability to supply, and for most of the time during the last year we have not had an instrument of this peculiar style to exhibit. This is the original shape of the Driggs patent, or violin piano, and it closely approximates, not only in the principles of its construction, but in its shape, to the violin, —"the most perfect because the most responsive instrument in the world." The case is a vibratory shell, free from all strain of the strings, and the oval shape retains more perfectly the vibratory circles, sustaining the tones with wonderful purity, and making the instrument more responsive and perfect. CITY GOVERNMENT.

THE COMPTROLLER'S OFFICE.

UNPAID CLAIMS UPON THE CITY.

The Comptroller is besieged—not only hourly but minutely—by clerks, criers, officers and even Judges to know why they cannot be paid their fairly-earned, and, in the case of the Judges, certainly hard-earned salaries. His answer is a reference to the Legislature; but as the Legislature would probably not pay the salary to the applicant in person, or his traveling expenses in going up to Albany to demand it, they are compelled to bide their time.

This whole trouble has been caused by the separation of City from County expenditures and appropriations. In good old times, and not very old at that, when the City tax bill was passed there was an end of the matter, for that embraced under proper heads every expenditure. The late law creating the "third house," under the name of Board of Supervisors, gave to that august body the sole power of appropriating and expending money for County purposes. Their bill—their private property, making appropriations for County purposes, passed the Assembly in the early stages of the session. But in the Senate the wheels of County Government has been blocked. The block consisted in an appropriation for "the Commissioners of Awards," ignored by the Assembly, to the tune of some $250 000, but determined on, it would appear, by the Senate—and so because the Senators of New-York, for the bill is now in their hands, insist on inserting this appropriation, and the Assemblymen will not consent. Judges, clerks, criers, officers, and the whole army of County contingents must live on tick, while the great State of New-York owes their salaries. Of course, no one can pretend to say what amount of force will be required to remove this obstacle, but one thing is certain, that it is discreditable to the great County of New-York to remain so long indebted to those whose services it has received, and whose wages are fairly earned. The bill referred to, as we have said, is in the hands of the Senators from this City, and if they have any regard for the reputation of the constituency they represent, they will do something immediately to remove from them the stigma of such shabby indebtedness, and relieve the Comptroller and his clerks from the necessity of neglecting really important business, in order to explain the laches of the Legislature. The bill now before them contains a provision enabling the Supervisors to raise money, on "bonds for county purposes," which, if passed, the Comptroller could immediately relieve himself from the vexatious annoyance of such constant and pressing demands, and the county from the odium now resting upon it.

STREET COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE.

CONTRACTS NOW PENDING.

Among the contracts advertised by the Street Commissioner, and which are soon to be acted on, there are two of considerable interest. One for a steam engine, to be placed in charge of the members of Southwark Company, No. 38, now located in Ann-street, the other for the opening of the Eleventh-avenue, from One Hundred and Seventh-street to One Hundred and Forty-fourth-street. With reference to this latter contract, it behooves the owners of property on the line of the avenue to be on their guard. A contract was confirmed by the Board of Aldermen more than a year ago, for working this road, and after laying a year nearly on the table of the Councilmen, it was finally concurred in by them. When the contractor was called on to fulfil his agreement he declined, and pleaded a provision in the contract, that if not confirmed within three months after the bid was accepted he was exonerated. The only course left was to readvertise, which has been done, and the bids will be opened soon. This is an expensive work, and in view of the fact that a contract, at a fair price, remained unconfirmed for a year, it may be well enough for property-holders to examine and see how much difference there may be between the prices now and the prices twelve months ago. We don't intend any insinuation, but when everything, even to an Alderman, seems to have his or its determined value, it may be well enough to examine the present prices of cutting, filling and etceteras which sometimes help to swell contractors and roadmasters' bills

GOVERNORS OF THE ALMSHOUSE.

PRIVATE MEETING—DECREASE AT THE INSTITUTIONS.

The Board of Governors met privately yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, for the purpose of considering the anticipated legislation at Albany in relation to the management of the institutions now under their charge. The weekly report from the various institutions received by the Clerk of the Board, showed that the number of inmates on the 3d of March was 8,258—a decrease of 97 as compared with the report for the week previous.

CITY INSPECTOR'S OFFICE.

STREET-CLEANING INVESTIGATION.

The Aldermanic Committee on Street-cleaning, which was to have examined Mr. Delavan at his house yesterday, where he is still confined by sickness, met and adjourned for one week in consequence of the announcement of the death of Mr. Delavan's father.

POLICE REPORTS.

SUPPOSED MURDER AT SEA.

James Flannigan, a young man, arrived at this port yesterday in the brig Falmouth, from the West Coast of Africa, whence he had been sent by the U. S. Consul at Gambia, for examination on a charge of murder. It is said that Flannigan shipped as seaman on the schooner California, Capt. Prentiss, which sailed from Salem, Mass., a few months since, for Gambia. On the 29th of December last, while the vessel was on her voyage, the captain mysteriously disappeared, and as he was last seen alive on deck with Flannigan standing beside him, the latter was believed to have murdered him. Spots of blood upon the deck, and the discovery of a bloody club, added strength to the suspicion, and he was placed in irons to await the disposition of the U. S. Consul. The prisoner was taken before a U. S. Commissioner by officers Holland and Lee, of the Harbor Police, and was subsequently committed to the Tombs pending an investigation of the charge. Charles Samways, also a seaman on the California, was returned and is detained as a witness in the matter.

A QUARTETTE OF HIGHWAYMEN.

Early yesterday morning, John Gaffney, while in the saloon at the corner of Canal and Sullivan streets, was so amused by the performances of Upton Murray and William Anderson, the former of whom played on the banjo, while the latter danced to the music, that he invited them, with their companions, John W. Bailey and James Neeley, to take a drink. In paying the score, he displayed a roll of bills amounting to $75, and when he left the saloon the other wayfarers followed, and repaid his kindness by robbing him of the whole amount, Anderson holding him by the neck while the others rifled his pockets. Gaffney succeeded in detaining Anderson until the Police came up, when he told them of his wrongs, and they started in pursuit of the other highwaymen. After a tedious and exhausting chase through alleyways and saloons, the three were captured, and with Anderson were committed by Justice Quackenbush to answer a charge of highway robbery. James Neely was identified as the brother of Charles Neely, who was apprehended on Monday, charged with having been concerned in the robbery of Martin Gordon, corner of King and McDougal streets. James is 21 years of age, and has already served a term in the State Prison. His brother is 19 years of age. The age of the colored prisoners is about the same as that of these prisoners, and their reputation is no better.

KIDNAPPING SAILORS.

The proprietors of many of the seamen's boarding-houses in this City are said to engage in what is called "shanghaiing," that is, getting poor Jack grossly intoxicated and placing him, while he is in this condition, on board a vessel on the eve of departure, pocketing the customary advance wages for their trouble. Of course when the victim regains his senses he is at sea and unable to demand redress. Early yesterday morning Henry Noolan, keeper of a boarding-house for seamen at No. 26½ Hamilton-street, was apprehended by the Harbor Police for an alleged attempt to deprive Charles Rast and Christian Flachnier, seamen attached to the Bremen brig Mercier, of their liberty in this way. At sight of the officers Noolan fled, but after a long chase was overtaken. The prisoner had with him at the time of his arrest a loaded revolver, which, however, he did not attempt to use. He was held for examination.

A POLICE OFFICER ASSAULTED.

About 7 o'clock last evening Patrolman Patterson, of the Fourteenth Precinct, was eating his supper in a saloon on the corner of Centre Market-place and Broome-street, and while conversing with a friend regarding the Mexican War, a young man named David Twomey jumped up and disputed some remark which he made. The officer took no notice of Twomey, when the latter, with an oath, hurled a decanter at the officer. Patterson dodged the missile and attempted to arrest Twomey, but he resisted, and the officer, after giving him a severe clubbing, took him to the Station-house when he was locked up. The affair created a great excitement in the Fourteenth Ward, as Twomey is an officer of one of the Civil Courts. Twomey's friends claim that he was intoxicated at the time.

SWIMMING OUT OF SIGHT.

Wm. Anderson, a young Norwegian sailor, said to be a deserter from the United States sloop-of-war Brooklyn, now lying at the Quarantine anchorage, was apprehended yesterday afternoon by Officer Murray, of the First Precinct, on suspicion of having been concerned in the murder of George Ritter, the marine who, a few months since, came to a violent death on board the vessel referred to. While the policeman had him in custody on board the Staten Island ferry-boat, on his way to the steamer, and when the boat had gone about two lengths from the slip he jumped overboard, swam ashore and escaped. The discomfited officer continued on his journey and returned by the next boat to report this novel way of waiving a trial.

THEFT BY AN ERRAND BOY.

James Smith, a boy only thirteen years of age, was yesterday committed to prison by Alderman Russell, on a charge of having stolen $30 92, from the money-drawer in the store of Mr. James T. Lee, at No. 297 Fourth-avenue, where he was engaged as errand boy. The robbery was perpetrated on Monday afternoon, during Mr. Lee's absence from the store, and the lad immediately decamped with the money. Upon his arrest Smith acknowledged that he had stolen the cash, a part of which he returned.

CORONERS' INQUESTS.

A CHILD BURNED TO DEATH.

While some little girls were playing around a fire which had been made, on Monday afternoon, by some plumbers who were working in Forty-first-street, near Ninth-avenue, the dress of Sophia Hapier, one of the number, came in contact with the flames and was instantly in a blaze. Although the fire was speedily extinguished, the little sufferer expired soon afterwards in consequence of the injuries she had sustained. An inquest was held upon the body by Coroner Jackman at No. 201 West Forty-first-street, the residence of the child's parents.

FELL DEAD IN A RESTAURANT.

Late on Monday evening Peter Brady, a waiter at the Pacific Hotel, went into the restaurant at the corner of Greenwich and Cortlandt sts. and engaged in a conversation with his acquaintances. Presently he uttered an exclamation, fell to the ground and expired. A post-mortem examination, made by Drs. Wetje and Beach, showed that death had resulted from rupture of the aorta, and Coroner Jackman's jury returned a verdict accordingly. Deceased was 28 years of age.

SUICIDE OF A DERANGED WOMAN.

Mrs. Dorothy Kannings, a German woman, 61 years of age, who has lately resided alone in Tenth-avenue, between Fifty-first and Fifty-second streets, was found dead yesterday morning, hanging by the neck from a beam, to which she had fastened a small cord. From the evidence elicited at the inquest held by Coroner Jackman, it appeared that deceased had been much depressed in spirits, and at times insane, ever since the death of her husband, which occurred 24 years ago. A verdict of suicide by hanging was rendered.

A FATAL FALL.

On the 2d inst. Michael Holland, a boy 16 years of age, fell from a fence on the corner of Reed and Hudson streets, on to a pile of rubbish. A stick penetrated to his stomach so that his intestines protruded from the wound. He was taken to the New-York Hospital, and lingered until last evening, when he died. An inquest will be held to-day.

FOUND DROWNED.

The body of an unknown man was yesterday found in the water at Pier No. 35 East River. He was a laborer, probably about 42 years of age. An inquest will be held to-day.

CITY INTELLIGENCE.

The Season and the Pavements.—The street and paving contractors are just now unusually busy making preparations for the opening of the Spring campaign, which so far as public works are concerned cannot commence until April. In the Sixth, Fifth and Fourth avenues, and in some of the cross streets, piles of blocks for the Belgian pavement are accumulating, ready to be laid as soon as permission arrives from head-quarters. It is amusing, and possibly suggestive, to observe the different manner in which the stone is disposed of, according to the locality. In the Sixth-avenue, as in the Fourth, inhabited, it is to be presumed, only by the profanum vulgus, the blocks are discharged at the side of the carriage-way, where they have been left for weeks to collect the dirt and dust, and impede the current of water through the gutters, thus affording the finest facility for the filth to accumulate. In the Fifth-avenue, they are not only carefully but neatly piled in small, compact parcels, on the edge of the sidewalk, not at all impeding pedestrianism, even for crinoline, and leaving the entire width of the avenue free for the vehicles belonging to the monde who throng it. It is to be regretted that so much valuable time has been lost during the late pleasant weather, when our streets and avenues so much need repairing; but we learn from high authority that if any citizen of acknowledged responsibility will come forward and enter into proper bonds for a continuance of the present state of the weather, the high contracting powers will authorize their subjects to commence immediate operations. This opportunity for some one to earn the civic crown is so advantageous that we make the announcement gratuitously.

The War upon the Dirt.—The City Inspector, sick though he be, has not lost a whit of the energy which has so heartily commended him to the community as "the right man for the right place." In almost every quarter of the City, yesterday, gangs of men were busily seeking the long-hidden paving-stones, and in many instances, as we can vouch, they succeeded in reaching them. Until the regular weekly statistics are sent in we cannot say how many loads of dirt have been removed, but we venture the suggestion that there are several yet remaining directly in front of the Times Office, which we should judge would bring more than the labor of digging and carting would cost the City. This, merely passim, but we have beyond a suggestion to make to the "Superintendent of Sanitary Inspection." Suppose he tries the experiment of paying by the quantity of dirt removed, instead of by the day's labor. From the manner in which the men worked while our reporter observed them, it is obvious that every voter of them—of course they were all voters, or would never have been employed—has learned that New-York is a very large goose, and any man who does not take a pull at its feathers, is less than wise. However, where such real good is intended, and is apparently in course of accomplishment, let us not quarrel with the means. Let the Inspector reduce the surplus quantity of the accumulated filth of months as speedily as possible, and even if the honorable Aldermen and Councilmen do grumble and swear that he is taking the bread out of their mouths, the blessings of those who make Aldermen and Councilmen will be upon his labors.

Military Items.—Orders issued by Col. Pinckney, of the Sixth Regiment, announce that the resignation of Adjutant Pinckney has been received and accepted; he will, however, continue his connection with the staff, in the position of volunteer, and acting as Commissary. Assistant-Paymaster Joel W. Mason has been appointed Adjutant, vice Pinckney, resigned; Edmund J. Wade Assistant-Quartermaster, vice Nichols, vacated; and Edward Kinney Assistant-Paymaster, vice Mason, promoted. The resignation of Second-Lieut. Frederick Zeigler has been approved and accepted by Brig.-Gen. Yates. The Eleventh Regiment is ordered to assemble, for military improvement, at the State Arsenal in Seventh-avenue, with rifles, overcoats and fatigue caps, on Monday, the 12th inst., at 8 o'clock P. M. The officers and non-commissioned officers will assemble at the Division Armory, corner of White and Elm streets, on Monday, the 26th inst., at 8 o'clock P. M. Last evening the commissioned officers of the Seventy-first Regiment met at the Armory, corner of Centre and Broome streets, for the purpose of electing a Lieutenant-Colonel to fill the vacancy created by the promotion of Col. Butterfield to the command of the Twelfth Regiment. There was considerable interest manifested in the result. At 7½ o'clock, Col. Vosburg called the meeting to order, and stated its object, when Major G. W. B. Tompkins and Capt. A. Kiernan were placed in nomination. The first ballot resulted in the election of Major Tompkins, who received 15 votes to 14 cast for his opponent. The result gave considerable satisfaction, as Major Tompkins is an officer who thoroughly understands his duties.

Compulsory Labor.—This was the subject of a lecture delivered last evening by Judge Clerke, of the Court of Appeals, before the Law School of the New York University. The relation of master and servant was shown to have been in most ages and nations of the world that of master and slave. Athens had 400,000 slaves to 14,000 freemen, which was about the average proportion of the two classes in the different nations of antiquity. Even in England free labor was scarcely known until centuries after the conquest of Great Britain by the Saxons and Normans. The last slave lived in England as recently as the reign of James II. The institution, however, was gradually brought to an end, not through any special enactments, still less by violent commotion, but through a steadily-growing conviction that in a homogeneous race like the English the voluntary system could be safely introduced. The lecturer then proceeded to speak of the legal relations, duties, rights, and responsibilities of master and servant as they exist at the present day, and also of the laws regulating the relation of apprentice, agents, clerks, &c., with their employers. The next lecture of the course of public lectures will be delivered this evening by Mr. Peter Y. Cutler, one of the Professors in the Law School.

Singular Casualty.—A singular casualty occurred at Elizabethport, N. J., last Saturday morning, in consequence of which Mr. Wm. Allen, brother of Mr. Horatio Allen of the Novelty Works, lost his life, and Mr. Geo. Gee was seriously injured. There is at Elizabethport an establishment for the manufacture of paper from fibrous woods. The wood is deposited in a steam gun, the muzzle of which is shut by a closely fitting cap. Steam is then applied to the gun, and after the wood has been subjected to a pressure of 200 pounds to the square inch for two or three minutes, the apparatus is discharged, and the wood is separated into particles as fine as snow flakes. On Saturday Mr. Gee had loaded the gun, and on shutting down the cap, perceived that the steam escaped. As he was endeavoring to ascertain where the breakage was, Mr. Allen came up behind him, and wished him good morning. Mr. Gee turned around, and just as Mr. Allen stepped in front of the gun it exploded prematurely, the steam and fibrous wood striking him with such violence that his body was thrown several yards. He was, of course, instantly killed. Mr. Gee escaped with severe, but not fatal bruises. The body of Mr. Allen was brought to this City by a steam-tug on Sunday morning, and was landed at the Novelty Works, whence it was conveyed to the late residence of the deceased.

Liquor Dealers' Society.—The annual election of officers for the Liquor Dealers' Association took place yesterday, and resulted in the reëlection of most of the old officers. There was no organized opposition. The polls closed at 4½ o'clock P. M., and in the interval between that time and 7½ o'clock the tellers met at No. 160 Hester-street, where the votes were counted. Upon the assembling of the Society, the result was announced as follows: President, Philip W. Engs; Vice-President, Alex. M. Matthews; Treasurer, Richard French; Recording Secretary, Gus. A. Ratz; Financial Secretary, David S. Paige; Trustees, N. R. Bunce, F. Ryan, John Hoeft; Finance Committee, Andrew Clark, John Merchant, William Van Name; Sergeant-at-Arms, David P. McBrien. The liquor dealers who have become disgusted with the management of the old Society, have organized a new association under the name of the "New-York City and County Liquor Dealers' Protective Society." On Monday they elected the following officers: President—Jno. D'Homergue; Vice-Presidents—Thos. B. Kerr, H. Hughes, Jno. Reilly; Treasurer—P. Mulvihill; Recording Secretary—P. McQuade; Financial Secretary—P. McLaughlin; Trustees—D. Healy, P. Begg, M. J. Helck; Financial—P. Dolan, George L. Thomas, Wm. Baird; Sergeant-at-Arms—Jas. Sandford.

Burial of a Veteran.—The funeral of Edward Classen, one of the veterans of the War of 1812, who died on Sunday last, aged 87 years and 5 months, took place yesterday from the Willett street Methodist Episcopal church, of which deceased was a member for over 40 years. The services were conducted by the pastor of the church, Rev. Charles Kelsey. A large congregation was present, including a dozen or more of the veteran companions of the deceased. Mr. Classen was a German by birth, but always manifested an ardent love for the land of his adoption. In the war of 1812 he did good service as one of the "Defencibles," at the time this City was under martial law, though he never took part in any general engagement with the enemy. He has been a resident of this City from that time, and while holding no public office, or being in any way prominent as a citizen, was yet highly esteemed among his acquaintances for his virtues as a man, a Christian and a patriot. He leaves a widow and several children and grandchildren. His remains were taken to Union Cemetery, L. I., for interment.

A Chapter of Casualties.—Charles M. Quinn, of No. 266 Monroe-street, was found yesterday morning lying in the area-way of No 75 Mercer-street, with a bad cut on his head and severe injuries on other parts of his body. He refused to say how he was hurt, but the Police conveyed him to his residence.... Patrick Heighn had one of his legs broken, in consequence of having been run over by a fire engine in Broadway.... Henry Bower, a laborer, residing at No. 240 West Forty-fifth street, was very dangerously injured by falling from the building in process of erection at the corner of Fifty-seventh-street and Sixth-avenue, to the sidewalk..... A man named Bennett was brought to the New-York Hospital yesterday, suffering from severe burns, which were caused by an explosion of a fluid lamp in a factory on Staten Island. He will no doubt die from his injuries.... Otto Schroder, a boy, was brought to the Hospital last evening, with a fractured arm. He was playing with some companions at No. 81 Chambers-street, when a box fell on him.

Caution to Ladies.—Quite an exciting scene transpired in one of the Broadway omnibuses a day or two ago. The vehicle had in it eight or ten ladies, and a little crowding was consequently inevitable; but one of the passengers evinced such unwarranted affection for her neighbor that the latter had her suspicions aroused. Soon there was a gentle twitch at the reticule which she had on her arm, and the next moment an ungloved hand was discovered stealthily opening this receptacle, which is so indispensable to ladies when on shopping expeditions. The alarm was given, and all the ladies in the stage resolved to decamp instantly, as there was no gentleman passenger who could be called on to effect the arrest of the offender. Whether she knew it or not, there was a tempting prize in the reticule that she attempted to rifle, for Mrs. Dr. E., the lady who was so unwarrantably trespassed upon, had in it her watch, valued at $250, which she was taking to the jeweler's to have repaired

Fourth Ward Industrial School.—About $3,000 have been raised by the ladies in charge of the Fourth Ward Industrial School, towards the purchase of a new house at No. 175 Madison-street. The premises now occupied in Cherry-street have become too restricted for the proper prosecution of the missionary work among the poor children of the Ward, and an urgent necessity has arisen for enlarged accommodations. The ladies appeal to the charitable public for assistance, to enable them to place the school upon a broader basis, and to enlarge its opportunities of usefulness. The further sum of $4,000 is needed to consummate the purchase of the new premises. The School being under the charge of the Children's Aid Society, the officers of that association will give such information as may be required, and receive contributions for the purpose indicated.

The Burton Will Case.—The mystery which has so long surrounded the Burton will case is dissipated so far as to reveal the following state of facts: In 1834 Mr. Burton married Miss Caroline Glessing, came with her to this country, and resided with her in Pennsylvania. The three children by this marriage are the residuary legatees in the will of Mr. Burton. From this wife Mr. Burton obtained a divorce in 1852, under that law of Pennsylvania which constitutes abandonment a sufficient cause. Subsequently he married Jane Livingston Hill, with whom he lived until the time of his death. He left a provision for her in his will. Miss Elizabeth Loft, who alleges that she was married to Mr. Burton in London in 1823, has never been in this country, and it is stated that her claim is presented now for the first time.

Abandonment of the Corn Exchange by the Provision Trade.—Having become disgusted with the very poor accommodation afforded to their interest on the main floor of the Corn Exchange, a majority of the Provision Merchants and Brokers have agreed to abandon the Corn Exchange, and to meet daily, between the hours of 11 o'clock A. M. and 12 M., at the Merchants' Exchange. To encourage this secession movement, the Directors of the latter building have consented to allow the seceders to have use of their building, at the annual rate of $15 for each subscriber; the first subscription to cover all charges from the present date to the first day of May, 1861.

Donation Visit.—Rev. Mr. Newman's congregation, Bedford-street Church, gathered in large numbers at the Parsonage last Wednesday night, and presented him with the sum of $1,000 in cash, besides other valuable gifts. The evening was delightfully spent in social intercourse, and partaking of refreshments which had been provided by the ladies. Appropriate remarks were made at the close of the evening by Mr. Wm. Westerfield, on presenting the gifts mentioned to Mr. Newman, who replied in a very feeling address. Rev. Mr. Newman and lady are to sail for Europe and the East in about two months.

New-York Regatta Club.—At the annual meeting of the New-York Regatta Club, which was held at the Washington Hotel, No. 1 Broadway, on Monday evening, the following officers were elected: President—Chas. M. Kay, reëlected. Vice-Presidents—James Dammarell and Joseph A. Gardiner. Secretaries—P. Kerrin, reëlected, and Dennis J. Conolly. Treasurer—Benjamin Cordray. The Fourth of July was fixed as the time for the next annual regatta, which will be open to all boats that may choose to enter.

Chess Match by Telegraph.—Arrangements for a chess match between Boston and this City, by telegraph, have been completed, and the contest will commence either this or next week. The players on the part of the Boston Chess Club will be Messrs. Hammond, Ware, Richardson, Stone and Howard, and this City will be represented by Messrs. Lloyd, Lichtenhein, Thompson, Perrin and Marache.

Fell from a Roof.—A Mrs. Scully, wife of a Policeman of the Twenty-third Precinct, last evening, fell from the roof of the house No. 107 Greenwich-street, where she was hanging up clothes, and striking the roof of a shed beneath, glanced from that to the ground. She was taken up insensible, and a medical examination showed that her skull had been fractured, and that she was otherwise severely injured. It is scarcely possible that she can recover.

National Union Movement.—The National Union Committee, at a meeting held yesterday, issued its call for a State Convention, to be held at Troy on the 18th of April, and inviting the members of Union Clubs to select one delegate from each Assembly District, to be in attendance then and there. The delegates to the Baltimore Convention will be chosen at Troy.

Fire.

IN A STABLE.

A fire, supposed to be incendiary in its origin, occurred about 8 o'clock last evening in a frame stable, No. 88 Ridge-street, owned by Mrs. Moon. Three horses, which were in the building at the time, were safely got out, and the flames were extinguished before damage to the extent of $20 had been sustained.

The Historical Society.

THE PROJECT OF PURCHASING THE ABBOTT EGYPTIAN COLLECTION—PLANS FOR ITS CONSUMMATION—VALUABLE DONATIONS FROM MR. R. K. HAIGHT—HISTORY OF AMERICAN WITCHCRAFT, &C., &C.

At the meeting of the Historical Society last evening, it was announced that a series of lectures will shortly be given before the Society on the subject of Egyptian history, for the purpose of informing the members as to the propriety of purchasing the Abbott Egyptian collection. The munificent donation already referred to, as tendered by R. K. Haight, consisting of costly works relating to the history of Egypt probably unsurpassed by any other collection in this country, was received. Autograph letters from Humboldt and Lafayette were also presented. The Society passed a unanimous vote of thanks to Mr. Haight for his valuable gift. It was stated, and appeared to be the general opinion, that the liberality of the members would shortly enable the Society to add to its interesting properties the much-talked-of Abbott collection.

The Treasurer exhibited an original portrait of Gen. Greene, painted by Col. Trumbull, which he announced was for sale. He also called attention to the publications of the Bradford Printing Club, as of great historical value.

A regular meeting of the Society falling upon the 3d prox., it was unanimously voted to postpone it to the 17th, in order to allow the members to attend the celebration of the anniversary of Irving's birth-day. The exercises of that occasion will take place at the Academy of Music, and an address is expected from Wm. Cullen Bryant.

The Society adopted a series of appropriate resolutions read by Dr. Osgood, in respect to the memory of Thomas Babington Macaulay.

Rev. Mr. Hopkins was then introduced, and read the paper of the evening on the subject of:

"The Witchcraft in the American Colonies."

Mr. Hopkins took the ground that our forefathers inherited their notions on this subject, and that they were too generally maligned considering all the circumstances of the case. The first legal enactment on the subject of witchcraft in this country, appears to have been made by the Maryland Assembly, in 1635, which adopted the English statutes on the subject. In 1639 Maryland directly provided for "punishing with death, sorcery, blasphemy and idolatry." In 1641, the Massachusetts laws were promulgated providing that witchcraft should be punished with death. Rhode Island followed suit in 1647; New-Jersey about that time. Delaware in 1700. South Carolina in 1712 restoring the statute of James the First, and Pennsylvania soon after. The laws of South Carolina on the subject remained on the Statute Book until 1837. Delaware adopted the statute of James the First in 1719. He believed that witchcraft existed previous to 1604-5. The Hebrew motto was "the more women, the more witchcraft," but his idea was, that "they were no longer old and wrinkled beldames," but "young, and gay, and lovely creatures." Connecticut, he believed, had from 1641 to 1697 twenty-one trials for witchcraft, although a large quantity of the State archives, containing the authentic details are destroyed. Massachusetts punished witchcraft in 1648. An anecdote is told of one John Bradstreet, who pleaded guilty, but the Court knew him to be so notorious a liar that he was acquitted. [Laughter.] In connection with the Salem witchcraft, it should be remembered that in Geneva there were five hundred witches consumed by the flames within three months; that fourteen houses in England furnished fourteen victims to the flames, and that the Salem horrors have been greatly exaggerated. He discussed the Salem excitement at length, criticising the part of Cotton Mather, and of the witnesses whose testimony was given in one hundred and thirty cases, mostly against their individual objects of hatred. Up to 1664 there is no trace of any law in New-York as to witchcraft, and when it did appear it was confined to the English settlements on Long Island out of our jurisdiction. The Indians said the devils would have nothing to do with the Dutch. In 1672 Sarah Dibble was accused of witchcraft in New-Jersey, but fled to Connecticut. In 1683 Wm. Penn presided over a Court in which a woman was tried and acquitted on a charge of witchcraft. Virginia had a like trial in 1705, and North Carolina in 1679 and 1712. Altogether there were 460 accusations of witchcraft in the colonies, 32 executions, 3 more condemned of whose fate History does not tell, and four were condemned who escaped. New-York alone, or perhaps New-Hampshire, never condemned a witch, or passed a law on the subject. Of the methods of discovering a witch one Perkins gave eighteen tests, seventeen of which were insufficient, and the eighteenth was impracticable. [Laughter.] In conclusion, the paper contrasted the horrible tortures, cruelties and barbarities of foreign punishment of witchcraft and the comparatively mild form of the delusion in the American Colonies.

The thanks of the Society were presented for the paper, and a copy requested for publication, after which the audience adjourned to the customary gustatory delights provided for the members.

Fire-Escape Apparatus.

EXHIBITION OF VARIOUS METHODS OF SAVING LIFE AT FIRES.

The German Turners gave a public exhibition yesterday, intended to show the practical use which can be made of certain descriptions of apparatus for saving life and property at fires. The place selected for the purpose was their Gymnasium in Orchard-street, and the hour 4½ o'clock P. M. A large crowd witnessed the experiments, testifying their admiration by shouts of applause at the successful termination of each feat. The first thing tried was the canvas bag, which was similar to that used at a former trial at the City Hall, and which was then fully described. Mounting to the third story by means of their portable ladders, this instrument was hauled up by means of a cord, which was dropped for the purpose, and fastened to one of the open windows. One person after another, both adults and children, was then placed within its open mouth, and safely descended through it to the street, the lower end being held out at an angle which gradually retarded their velocity until they reached the ground. Various articles of furniture were also sent down in the same way without injury. The second were the story-ladders, strongly but lightly built, with a large curved hook at one end. Standing on the ground these ladders were raised by one man, who placed the hook over the window-sill of the second-story. He then mounted it, closely followed by one or two comrades, each having a strong canvas belt around his waist, attached to which, by a hook, was a roll of stout cord. While one held on to his companion by the belt to prevent his fall, the same ladder was instantly transferred to the third story, to which the two again mounted, entering the window, where they were supposed to be ready to rescue any person whose escape had been cut off, and pass him unharmed to the street by means of the canvas bag or the ladders.

The Italian ladder, which was the next article exhibited, consisted of sections of 3½ feet in length, and having only four rounds in each, one part fitting into the other so as to make it very secure. A small wheel at the upper end gave it easy motion as it was pushed up the side of the building until the top of the house was reached. The gymnasts then ascended and descended upon it, showing with what facility they, at least, could make it available in an extremity for reaching the highest building, in the rear, or at any place where long ladders could not be introduced. The last contrivance was the well-known taut blanket, or canvas, which is intended as a dernier resort, where persons are compelled to throw themselves from the windows of a burning building to avoid suffocation. It was held by the four corners, strongly supported by as many Turners, while one of their number jumped into it from the third-story and landed without injury.

The entire exhibition was novel and highly satisfactory, showing that in the hands of so experienced gymnasts, at least, these contrivances can be put to excellent use in the saving of life, when the ordinary means have failed. It was stated by Dr. Gaerdner, under whose supervision the exhibition was made, that it was not the purpose of the Turners to organize a distinct Company or to interfere in any way with the established routine of the firemen, but they would probably invite the Common Council and Board of Engineers to witness their experiments at some time and place convenient to themselves, and if, after full investigation, their plans should be approved, they would coöperate with the department in every way to give efficiency to the new undertaking.

During the month of February, as above shown, medical and surgical services, vaccination and medicine were afforded gratuitously to 10,596 persons.

The principal causes of death were consumption, inflammation of the lungs and small-pox.

The prevailing diseases chiefly affected the respiratory system. Among the most important were bronchitis, whooping cough, rheumatism and eruptive fever.

BROOKLYN INTELLIGENCE.

Circuit Court.—Calendar for This Day.—Nos. 17, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41.

Court of Oyer and Terminer.—This Court was opened yesterday, Judge Lott and Justices Stilwell and Stryker on the bench. The following named persons were sworn as Grand Jurors:

Tunis G. Bergen, Foreman.
John D. Emmons, Wm. Pitman, Sterling Smith,
Morris Reynolds, E. D. Plympton, Ira D. Richmond,
Sam'l D. Patridge, Wm. P. Palmer, Wm. P. Shepard,
Aaron Lewis, George H. Reed, Wm. A. Lindsay,
Edward Le Fort, Horace B. Claflin, Aaron A. Phillips,
A. S. Duncome, Charles Eckhart, George Tucker.

After the usual charge from the Court, the Jury retired to their labors.

Death from Intoxication.—The body of an unknown woman was found in the hallway of a tenant-house, on Hudson-avenue, near Marshall-street, at an early hour yesterday morning, by an inmate of the house. By the side of the body was a little child two years old, chilled through from exposure, but weeping bitterly and calling for "Mamma." The deceased, it is supposed, crawled where she was found on Monday night, while intoxicated, and died from the effect of intemperance and exposure. Coroner Horton took charge of the body. The child, if it has no friends, will be sent to the Almshouse, and the body of the mother to the Potter's Field.

Fires.—A house owned by Michael Heenan, on North Sixth street, was damaged by fire to the extent of $400, Monday night. The loss is covered by insurance in the United States Insurance Company, New-York.... A stable on Bushwick-avenue, owned by Herman Baurman, and occupied by Messrs. White & Rogers, was destroyed by fire the same night. Loss $100.... James Clark, a fireman, nearly lost his life by suffocation at this fire, in an endeavor to save some of the contents of the stable.

Another Attempt to Suppress the Freedom of Speech.—While Judge Culver, of this city, was on a visit at the house of a friend in Thirty-fourth-street, New-York, a few evenings since, a thief entered the house and stole the Judge's overcoat. The coat was valueless, as compared with the contents of one pocket, which contained several carefully prepared Republican speeches, upon which much time and labor had been bestowed.

Cool.—A thief entered a court-room in the basement of the City-Hall, and stole the Judge's hat, a new one, just purchased.

Board of Education.—A regular meeting of this Board was held last evening. No business of general interest was transacted.

Jersey City.

ALLEGED SPECULATIONS IN GRAVES AND COFFINS.

A trial took place yesterday afternoon before Justice Stanton and a Jury, at Henkle's lager-bier saloon, No. 144 Newark-avenue, Jersey City, at which there were some revelations as to the manner in which speculations are carried on in the interment of the dead, by which a small plot of ground is made to yield large revenues by a system of tenement graves.

In September last a German, named Christian Yost, residing at No. 76 Newark-avenue, lost a little daughter about three years of age. He called upon Mr. Edw. Hope, Jr., and ordered a mahogany coffin—not however, to be a costly one; and also engaged of him a grave at the New York Bay Cemetery. The child was duly buried and the grave filled up, as is usual. Some four months afterwards, Yost, in conversation with one of his friends, named John Falkner, who had just lost a child, was surprised to learn that the numbers of their graves were the same, (No. 728.) They accordingly determined to investigate the matter, and on the following day proceeded to the Cemetery and caused the grave to be opened. Two small coffins were removed, and the next two contained the bodies of Yost's and Falkner's children. Beneath these they were informed that there were two or three more coffins. The men feeling greatly aggrieved, removed the remains of their children to another cemetery. Mr. Yost also claimed that he had purchased a mahogany coffin, and that the one in which he found his child's remains was a white wood coffin.

The action yesterday was brought by Mr. Yost to recover $100 damages, alleged to have been sustained in consequence of Mr. Hope having sold to him a grave which was also used for the interment of others. Mr. Wm. H. Jelliffe acted as counsel for the plaintiff, and in his opening proposed to prove what is stated in substance as above. Mr. Wakeman conducted the case on the part of the defendant, Mr. Hope.

The complainant, Mr. Yost, was the first witness on the stand. He stated that he ordered a mahogany coffin from Mr. Hope, who took charge of the interment. After learning that other bodies were buried in the same grave, Yost caused the remains of his child to be exhumed, when he found that the coffin was a whitewood one, instead of mahogany.

Mr. Wood, the Superintendent of the Cemetery, also testified that he cut a piece from the coffin, and found it to be whitewood.

John Falkner, a neighbor of the complainant, testified that he discovered the remains of his child buried in the grave with Yost's, and that there were five other coffins in the same grave; that Hope had endeavored to settle the matter, but Yost declined to do it.

Mr. Hope, the defendant, testified that, where the price paid for a child was less than $7, they only secured the right to a burial, but could hold no title to the land. He said the custom of burying several bodies in one grave had been practiced as long as he knew anything of the business. The coffin, he stated, was made of bay-wood, and is termed by undertakers "plain mahogany."

The case was given to the Jury at 7 P. M., and at 10 o'clock last night they were not able to agree.

The Railroad Troubles in New-Jersey.

MANIFESTO OF COMMODORE STOCKTON.

Commodore Stockton has issued his manifesto regarding the railroad troubles in New-Jersey. He claims that the Joint Companies—the Delaware and Raritan Canal, and the Camden and Amboy Railroad—"have never done anything that they are not willing to proclaim from the top of the State House, if needs be." He then rehearses the history of the two companies, tells how he subscribed $400,000 to secure the Charter for the Canal, when it would otherwise have been forfeited, and sketches at length the process by which the consolidation of the two corporations was finally effected. The State, he claims, has reaffirmed its contract with the consolidated Company by the passage of numerous acts. "And where," he naively asks, "in looking over the vast field throughout the United States, now traveled by railroads and canals, will you find any achievements in the way of internal improvements which have conferred equal benefits on the people of the States in which they are found, at less cost? Where will you find a State the public works of which have been made a source of revenue sufficient to defray the whole annual expenses of the State Government? Where is there a State in which, besides defraying the expenses of the State Government, the revenues of her public works have contributed to construct its capital, its asylums, and its prisons? Could human wisdom devise a scheme more beneficial?" If the New-Jersey Road has lost the benefits which have accrued to it in times past from a participation in these privileges, Com. Stockton claims that it is itself to blame. The Consolidated Companies, he asserts most positively, were altogether innocent of any attempt to urge the State Legislature to the action which it has taken.

States Island.

Remarkable Longevity.—The Richmond County Gazette notices the death of Mrs. Phœbe Fountain, which occurred on the 1st inst. Mrs. Fountain was ninety years and six months of age. The funeral service was held in the Clove Meeting-house on Saturday, when it was stated that she had been a member of the Baptist Church for fifty-five years, and that the dress in which she was attired for the grave was the same in which she was baptised over half a century ago! About a year since, the death of Mrs. Crocheron, at Graniteville, of about the same age, was noticed, and it is a singular fact that fifteen years before her decease she made her own shroud, which she preserved until her death, when it was used. There is a Mrs. Bird now living on the Island, who is in her one hundred and first year.
